NIGHT FINAL

6 O'CLOCK EDITION

LABOR LEADERS HAIL WAGE CEILING HOIST

Action To Do Much To End Strife, Say Union Officials

A.F.L. and C.C.L. labor leaders here and in Vancouver this afternoon hailed as a victory the announcement of Labor Minister George S. Pearson that the 10-cent-an-hour "interim" wage boost ceiling had been lifted.

Mr. Pearson said here today B.C. Regional War Labor Board would start Monday on clearing scores of applications for wage boosts in excess of 10 cents an hour on which it had deferred action following suggestions from Ottawa these applications, if granted, might threaten Canada's anti-inflation program.

In Victoria George Wilkinson, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, parent body of more than 40 A.F.L. unions in the Greater Victoria area, said:

"I am very pleased with the announcement of Mr. Pearson. I think this action will go a long way in preventing further industrial strife in British Columbia."

"If Mr. Pearson's statement means that all joint applications by employees and employers are to be granted, it will do much to restore industrial peace and allay unrest in British Columbia," said William White, president of the Marine Workers and Boilermakers' Union (C.C.L.). Mr. White's union represents most of the C.C.L. shipyard workers in Vancouver and vicinity.

H. W. Watts, secretary of the A.F.L. building trades council in Vancouver, expressed gratification at lifting of the increase limit.

Mr. Pearson's announcement said that applications before the board would be dealt with on their individual merits.

Alleged Black Market Family

The U.S. Army's Criminal Investigation Division says that this photograph of the Warner family, charged by the C.I.D. with being involved in a global black market organization, was taken "at the last meeting of all members of the family." The picture was released in Berlin where officials identified the men as Alfred, 27, New York City; Lewis L., 23, employee of American Overseas Air Lines in Berlin; David L., 59, the father; Oscar S., 29, former navy lieutenant now in the export-import business in Paris; and Robert, former navy lieutenant, now traffic manager for Unrra in Shanghai.

Police Hunt Desperate Bandit After Attempted Bank Hold-Up

EMBRUN, Ont. (CP)—Police hunted a desperate armed bandit in the bush at nearby Russel after the wounded fugitive exchanged shots with several constables and ditched a stolen taxi following an attempt to rob the Royal Bank branch here this afternoon.

Quick gun-play by the bank manager, G. A. Cloutier, foiled the actual hold-up attempt as the bandit forced Harold Malette, an Ottawa taxi-driver, to accompany him into the bank. Malette was seriously wounded in the chest and Mr. Cloutier said he was certain he hit the bandit as well.

Making his getaway in the taxi, the bandit fired three shots at John Buchanan, Russel constable, as he passed through the town. One shot struck and killed the constable's dog.

Buchanan said he first noticed the car because it was swaying from side to side and as he approached the driver leaned from the window and fired three shots at him.

The taxi crashed into a ditch and the driver ran into the bush. Provincial police converged on the area.

Mrs. Roosevelt "Black and Blue"

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, involved in an automobile accident Wednesday near Yonkers, wrote today in her syndicated column:

"I myself am quite well, though for some time I shall look as though I had been in a football game without having taken any training.

"My eyes are black and blue. In fact, I am black and blue pretty much all over."

She said two front teeth, cracked in a fall at Utica "a great many years ago," were broken in the accident.

"Now I shall have two lovely porcelain ones, which will look far better than the rather protruding large teeth which most of the Roosevelts have," she wrote.

$1,100,000 In Debts Of Soldier Settlers Canceled To Date

OTTAWA (CP)—Capt. Walter Tucker, parliamentary assistant to Veterans' Minister Mackenzie, told the Commons today that more than $1,100,000 had been written off the debts of 1,765 First Great War veterans who came under the Soldiers' Settlers Act. The average was $630.

He disclosed that a recent order-in-council extended from Sept. 1 to Dec. 31, a regulation under which those settlers may apply for reduction of their debts. In some cases as much as 50 per cent of their equity had been eliminated.

Two-thirds of the settlers are located in Alberta and Saskatchewan, Mr. Tucker said, in answering questions during consideration of estimates of the Veterans' Department.

Estimated annual cost of administering the Soldiers' Settlers Board was $120,000. In the past two years there had been only five cancelations of settlers' contracts and one eviction.

The average age of the settlers was 57. The average debt of the 4,276 still owing money was $1,160.

Movie Star Next

James Houston Davis, Louisiana's singing governor, will star in the forthcoming movie "Louisiana," the story of his rise from a farm boy to a professorship in a girls' college and on to the governorship of his state. Governor Davis composed the song "You Are My Sunshine."

$1,000,000 Yacht, Owes 7 Years' Taxes

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—The schooner Fantome, rakish, black-hulled yacht owned by A. E. Guiness, English stout manufacturer, is subject to King County taxation for the seven years it has been moored in Portage Bay here, Prosecutor Lloyd Shorettz today advised County Assessor Ralph S. Stacy. The 275-foot yacht reputedly worth $1,000,000 and one of the world's largest, was built in 1932.

Guiness had it sailed here, planning a Pacific voyage, but with the outbreak of the war left it moored here. It was offered to the navy and coast gard, but was not accepted because of conversion costs.

Montreal Police Captain Dismissed

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal's municipal executive committee today dismissed Capt. Arthur Tache, suspended head of the police morality squad, for "disciplinary infractions."

His suspension came after a list specifying a number of police raids and time of raids on various gambling establishments in Montreal was found when he had left on his vacation.

Claxton Elected At Paris

PARIS (CP)—Canada's Health Minister, Brooke Claxton, today was elected chairman of the legal and drafting commission of the peace conference.

Juror Gets Wink

Because he winked and smiled at a pretty woman juror during a trial in a San Francisco court, a lawyer opposing Attorney Phillip Barnett, shown here, asked for a new trial, but Superior Judge Sylvian Lazarus denied the motion.

Juror Barbara Belasco was the recipient of the smile and wink. Said Attorney Barnett after leaving the courtroom: "I hope I never get too old to smile and wink at a young lady."

Rains Cause Flood

CHICAGO (AP) — Torrential rains resulting in flash floods left portions of East St. Louis and Belleville, Ill., under water today as continuing thunder showers deluged the middle Mississippi Valley.

At East St. Louis an 8.5-inch rainfall in 24 hours inundated the Washington Park section of the city—an area two miles square. Coast guards were evacuating residents.

Most industries in the two cities were closed.

Denies Railwaymen Given Pay Raise

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor Minister Mitchell today denied reports that government approval had been given to a wage increase of 10 cents an hour for Canadian railway workers.

"There has been no approval given to any increase," Mr. Mitchell said. "My information is that negotiations are going on between the union and railways on wages."

Says Claim 'Ludicrous'

TORONTO (CP)—Pat Conroy, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Congress of Labor, today said the federal government's contention that inflation would result from wage increases in excess of 10-cents-an-hour was "manifestly ludicrous."

Diefenbaker Claims Privileges Violated

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker, P.C., Lake Centre, charged in the Commons today that the government had committed a breach of the privileges of Parliament by failing to table all the correspondence on a certain incident after the House had directed that it be tabled.

His reference was to a return tabled in the House Thursday in which it was shown that Arthur MacNamara, deputy labor minister, had decided in April "to close the file" on a case of alleged misuse of army discharge papers at Camp Borden.

Mr. Diefenbaker said that from the correspondence itself it was obvious that at least four letters had been taken out of the file. He said the R.C.M.P. had uncovered a definite "conspiracy" to use blank, but signed discharge papers illegally, but that their findings had "been departed from."

Blank papers had been sold to some persons and in at least one case $1,300 had been paid, Mr. Diefenbaker charged.

Mr. MacNamara, in Thursday's return, said two main reasons for his decision not to start prosecutions, were the fact that the war had ended and that there was no evidence that money had played any part.

Inquiry Begins On B.C.E.R. Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—J. Edwin Eadls' one-man commission to inquire into the dispute between the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America, and the B.C. Electric Company, opened here today.

Dr. Lawrence B. Jack, general secretary of the B.C.E.R., and H. P. Melnikoff of San Francisco, representing the men, agreed that three points are in dispute—wage rates, a health and hospitalization plan and hours of work.

The inquiry follows turning down by the men in July of an offer on 7½-cents-an-hour increases, union security, the hospital plan and other benefits.

Introductions of exhibits precipitated a debate on whether the cost-of-living index is indicative of the true rise in the cost of living. Mr. Melnikoff said he was convinced that they no longer indicate the true cost of living.

Army Must Discard Air Force Badges

R.C.A.F. aircrew wings can no longer be worn by members of the Army.

A recent routine order issued by National Defence Headquarters revokes the privilege granted a year ago to aircrew veterans of the air force who received their discharges and joined khaki-clad service.

No reason was given for the cancellation.

The order states that badges or insignia cannot be worn by army personnel which cannot be won in the army.

The new ruling does not affect men entitled to wear the "jump wings" of the 1st Canadian Parachute Battalion.

State Medical Services For All In Australia

TORONTO (CP)—State medical and hospital services for every Australian citizen will be introduced by the Commonwealth government early next year, F. H. Rowe, director-general of social services for Australia, said today at a luncheon given by the Health League of Canada.

From now on the Australian government will spend more money than ever before on its national fitness program, said Mr. Rowe. He added any "self-complacency" his country may have felt regarding the health of its people was destroyed during the war when it saw too many young Australians rejected from the armed services because of poor health.

Steel Strike Negotiations Fail With Wage Increase Main Hurdle

OTTAWA (CP)—Negotiations aimed at settlement of the month-old Canadian steel strike have collapsed.

Maurice Lalonde, Lib., Labelle, chairman of the Commons industrial relations committee, announced Thursday night L. W. Brockington, mediator in the dispute, had been unable to reach a settlement.

Mr. Lalonde made public letters which Mr. Brockington had placed before the committee at a private session. He had reported to the committee that he met with the union and companies for the last time Thursday and had failed to reach a settlement.

While Mr. Brockington is remaining at the disposal of the committee, the announcement made it clear negotiations had reached an end for the time being. Union representatives immediately made preparations to leave Ottawa.

The developments showed the main hurdle towards a settlement of the strike, which affects 15,000 employees, was still the 10-cent wage increase offered by the government and the Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton, and the 15½ cents demanded by the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.).

CENTRED ON STELCO

Negotiations, it was apparent, had centred on Stelco. The other two companies involved in the strike—Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., Sydney, N.S., and Algoma Steel Corp., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., had pleaded financial restrictions. Algoma had said it could not pay more than eight cents and Dosco had taken the position it could not afford any wage increase.

In the final exchange of views Stelco stood by its 10-cent offer, the union demanded assurance of a 15½-cent increase and Mr. Brockington proposed a 10-cent increase with further adjustments left to arbitration.

Mr. Lalonde said the proposal made by Mr. Brockington was clearly indicated as a compromise proposal.

"It must not be accepted as his judgment on the merits of the dispute," Mr. Lalonde said.

SHOULD BE CO-OPERATION

Mr. Brockington had prefaced his proposals with the recommendation that there should be an immediate return to work without discrimination by either the company or union against strikers or non-strikers. The new agreement should include a no-strike clause and there should be fullest co-operation in raising production.

He recommended that the three-man arbitration board should take into consideration advances in the cost of living, the state of steel production, price control in general and particularly as it applied to the steel industry and patterns of wages and condition applied to other comparative industries.

He added: "In so far as the government's intervention is necessary to make the settlement effective in Algoma and Dosco the government is to take all possible measures for this purpose."

In the statement which he had issued earlier, Mr. Millard placed blame for contiuance of the strike on the government.

Mr. Millard said the Ottawa negotiations had been "prejudiced by an unscrupulous attempt to blame labor for price increases."

Bare Mid-Riff Now Becomes Complicated

NEW YORK (AP)—"The battle of the bare mid-riff," which occurred July 27 when Mrs. Edythe Elgisser was asked to leave a bus because the driver thought her playsuit was too scanty, wound up before Magistrate Alex Piscroppa Thursday with these results.

Mrs. Elgisser was fined $10 for being improperly clothed in violation of a 1942 ordinance.

Bus driver Charles Balga was directed by the magistrate to sign an assault complaint against Mrs. Elgisser's husband, Max.

An assault complaint against Elgisser, brought by Mrs. Lacy Aries, was dismissed on the grounds that she was an innocent bystander and it wasn't clear who slugged her.

As assault complaint against the bus driver, signed by Elgisser, was dismissed because the magistrate said he wasn't convinced Balga started the fracas.

Veterans' Land Act Homes Topic Of Turbulent Exchanges In House

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons dug into the estimates of the Department of Veterans' Affairs Thursday in a discussion dominated by exchanges concerning homes built on small holdings under the Veterans' Land Act.

Continuing its 12-hour sittings, it also finished off the estimates of the Agriculture Department with the end of a two-day debate on the British wheat agreement.

The agriculture debate was opposed by the Conservative leader and his followers, with C.C.F. and Social Credit members generally approving it.

At its outset, the Commons heard three important announcements:

1. National registration has been abandoned.

2. All restrictions on distribution of new cars have been removed.

3. Canada's deserters and absentees have been written off the military books without entitlement to veterans' rights.

In the upper House, Senator W. A. Buchanan, Lib., Alberta, tabled the report of the Senate tourist committee, recommending federal assistance to the provinces for construction of high standard roads to encourage tourist traffic. The Senate also heard renewed opposition to the Foreign Exchange Control Bill and referred it to a committee. A report from the Banking Committee, recommending that the bill revising the Bankruptcy Act be dropped for this session, was accepted.

In the Commons, the Veterans' Department estimates served as the basis of two of the outstanding exchanges of the day.

Veterans Minister Mackenzie finally stormed "I object" at the prodding of his fellow Vancouverite, James Sinclair, Lib., North Vancouver, for an answer to a contention that a recent order by Reconstruction Minister Howe had "thrown out the window" the original purpose of the small holdings clause of the V.L.A.

He said the order "limits these holdings to communities of less than 5,000 or more than 15 miles from a metropolitan area."

Turbulent scenes developed when C. E. Johnston, S.C., Bow River, Alta., renewed charges he made last March that inspectors of the V.L.A. had approved improperly built veterans' homes in Calgary. He contended that the foundations, flooring, windows and roofs of the homes were defective when accepted.

Exchanges flared across the floor, interjections arose and derisive laughter erupted as Mr. Johnston talked on for more than 45 minutes.

In the veterans' land debate, Mr. Mackenzie told George Cruickshank, Lib., Fraser Valley, that 90 former Japanese properties in British Columbia have been sold to war veterans "and the remainder will be made available as quickly as possible."

One hindrance, he said, was that most of the applicants for them were men with little overseas service.

He told Mr. Cruickshank that "we expect within the next 10 days to have a sale price established for all the (small holdings) homes constructed in the Fraser Valley."

The Veterans Minister said medical services for veterans had been "completely reorganized" in the last six to nine months.

He was speaking on estimates of his department.

E. D. Fulton, P.C., Kamloops, had mentioned Shaughnessy Hospital, Vancouver, in particular in urging that treatment be made more readily available. He suggested the problem might be one of staff, rooted in salaries.

Saanich Approves Transportation Plan With City

The Greater Victoria Transportation Committee's unified transportation plan has been approved by Saanich with minor changes, it was announced Thursday night following a special meeting of the municipal council.

The city approved the plan at a meeting of the council last Tuesday. Oak Bay postponed discussion of the plan at a meeting of its council Wednesday night when two of the councillors were absent.

When Oak Bay has given its opinion of the plan, the findings of the city and municipalities will be referred to the inter-municipal committee.

Details of the transportation specifications have been kept secret. All meetings held in connection with it have been in camera.

The Saanich council last night was addressed by Alderman Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria Transportation Committee, and E. S. Farr, transportation consultant.

Romantic Career Over, Mountie To Retire At Duncan

WINNIPEG (CP) — Take a chapter from Kipling, another from Robert Service, season them with a dash of pulp-magazine fiction, and you'll have the career of Assistant Commissioner T. V. Sandys-Wunsch of the R.C.M.P., a story-book hero if there ever was one.

He has ridden with the Camel Corps in the Middle East, fought with the Belgian cavalry in Flanders, holds a world's revolver record, has been shot in the head by a crazy trapper, and makes his own fishing flies out of polar bear hairs.

Now, at 54, he is retiring from his post as supervisor of the R.C.M.P.'s Manitoba district. He plans a quiet existence in Duncan, B.C., with his wife and 10-year-old son John.

The husky Englishman joined the R.C.M.P. as a trumpeter in 1911. When war was declared in 1914, he bought his way out of the force and tried to enlist in the British army. The authorities balked at his eysight, but the Belgians weren't so particular, and he fought with them all through the retreat from Ypres. He was wounded and decorated with the Yser Cross for capturing seven Germans and saving the regimental flag.

WITH GEN. ALLENBY

In 1915, the British army decided his eyesight wasn't so bad after all, and made him a temporary captain in the Scots Guards. He served on Gen. Allenby's staff in the Middle East.

He rejoined the R.C.M.P. as a sergeant in 1919, and spent the next 27 years in all nine provinces, the Yukon and the Eastern Arctic. One of his assignments took him to the Liard River district of northern B.C., where he and two constables traveled 75 miles on foot in 27 hours to capture five Indians suspected of murder.

In 1937, he shot it out with an insane trapper in the Yukon. When one of the trapper's bullets grazed his head, he was forced to shoot back to kill. He didn't miss.

Accuracy with a revolver and rifle has won the assistant commissioner a world-wide reputation. He once got 19 consecutive hits in a one-inch bulls-eye with a .45 service revolver, a world record that still stands.

His colored beadwork has won several Dominion prizes. Asked if this isn't "sissy stuff" for a he-man, he says it should be all right for men to do women's work, what with women stepping into so many "male occupations" these days.

Russians Denounced For 'Blasted Rot', 'Sick Of It' Shouts Peace Delegate

PARIS (AP)—The Russian delegation tossed the makings of a new fight between western and eastern powers into the peace conference today and the New Zealand delegate, W. J. Jordan, in an outburst of temper, denounced the Russians for "this blasted old rot."

"Let's do something," Mr. Jordan shouted in exasperation at long speeches and delays after listening to an argument by Soviet delegate Andrei Vishinsky. "Here we sit listening to quack, quack, quack, hour after hour. We are sick of it."

Mr. Vishinsky insisted in an organizational meeting of the political and territorial commission on Romania that only countries actually at war with the former enemy states should vote in the commissions drafting recommendations for the fine peace treaties. The vote of France thus would be eliminated from the commission on Romania.

In a meeting of the commission on Finland, Soviet delegate N. V. Novikov raised the same point, which would eliminate the votes of the United States and France.

Presumably the Russians planned to raise the same questions in the commissions for Italy, Bulgaria and Hungary.

Mr. Vishinsky insisted upon his point and the matter was left for future action. In the commission on Finland, too, the Soviet declaration was noted in the minutes without further action.

Mr. Jordan was so perturbed that his voice broke as he cried the words "this blasted old rot."

"Let's get on with the blasted conference," he said. "Let's do something. Get a president in the chair and let's get on with our work. That's what people expect us to do."

Mr. Vishinsky, responding later to the blast, commented that he would ignore "the harsh words" by the "temperamental delegate from New Zealand" and then added: "We shall never submit to angry words."

Dmitri Manuilsky, chief of the Ukranian delegation, was elected chairman of the Romanian Commission by acclamation after his nomination by Canada.

Nawraji Wadia of India was elected vice-chairman, also by acclamation. The meeting concluded immediately after the election.

The commissions for Bulgaria and Hungary which also were scheduled to organize this morning did not meet because of the time consumed by the Romanian commission.

The commission for Finland unanimously elected J. A. Beasley of Australia as chairman, a member of the Czechoslovak delegation as vice-chairman and a member of the British delegation as secretary.

Truman Asking U.S. To Admit European Jews

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman announced today that he is considering asking Congress for special legislation to permit entry of European refugees, including Jews, into the United States.

A White House statement said the United States government "has not presented any plan of its own for the solution of the problem of Palestine," although the President has been exchanging views with Prime Minister Attlee on the question.

The statement said it was clear no settlement of the Palestine problem could be worked out that would be "fully satisfactory" to all parties concerned.

It added that a spirit of conciliation must be used if the problem is to be solved "in a manner which will bring peace and prosperity to Palestine."

Ordinarily a request for special legislation would be held off until after next Jan. 20, when a new Congress convenes. There had been some speculation before the 79th Congress adjourned that Mr. Truman might summon it back for a special session, primarily on domestic problems.

LONDON (CP)—Colonial Secretary Geoive Hall flew to Paris today to confer with Foreign Secretary Bevin on what steps Britain will take in the wake of President Truman's reported refusal to accept or reject the Anglo-American experts' Palestine partition plan.

Mr. Hall conferred for two hours Thursday with a Jewish Agency delegation headed by agency president Dr. Chaim Weizmann. Whether he carried any concrete proposals to Paris was not disclosed.

90 Houses Left For Allotment Among 1,800 Victoria Veterans

Of nearly 1,800 veterans who have tried to get wartime houses, only 90 can be accommodated in the houses now under construction, it was learned today.

At the present time there are 1,194 veterans who have filled out application forms for a wartime house. There are between 500 and 600 others who, when they learned how far down they would be on the list and how little chance there was of ever getting one of the houses, refused to fill in an application.

Only 90 of the 150 special wartime houses being constructed for veterans remain to be allotted, and after that the others on the list will have to depend on turnover of these or the 425 other wartime houses in the area.

Approximately 300 of the wartime houses built for shipyard and other war workers are still occupied by civilians and 125 of them are now occupied by veterans. Turnover on these houses is very small.

Howe Hints Revision Of Tax Policy On Wartime Housing

Possibility that municipalities may be able to collect full taxes on wartime houses in future was hinted in a recent speech of Hon. C. D. Howe, Reconstruction Minister, R. F. F. Sewell, secretary of the Union of B.C. Municipalities, stated in a letter today to the City Council.

Mr. Sewell stated that Mr. Howe had declared the government's willingness to re-negotiate existing contracts with municipalities, so that Wartime Housing Ltd. would bill the tenants for additional taxes over what is provided in the contract. However, Mr. Howe has refused to place the Dominion in the position of a taxpayer, but will agree to bill the tenant as before stated.

At the present time municipalities are paid a flat rate of $24 a year for two-bedroom houses and $30 a year for larger houses in lieu of taxes. In smaller municipalities, such as Esquimalt, where there are large Wartime Housing projects, this has been a sore point and the municipal councils have contended that they could not keep up road and school services for the residents in the projects on this amount of money.

In Victoria it has been estimated that the sum paid by the Dominion government in lieu of taxes is only one-third to one-quarter what the normal taxes would be.

Vessel Explodes; 2 Seriously Hurt

NORTH SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Two members of the crew of the Labrador mission boat Nellie A. Cluett were in "very serious" condition in hospital today shortly after the 300-ton vessel exploded while taking on coal here.

The explosion, which occurred at about 10 a.m., A.D.T., blew the aft part of the small vessel up onto the Leonard Wharf where loading operations were taking place. She sank immediately afterward. Cause of the explosion was not immediately known.

80 Die In Riots As Hindus Clash With Moslems

CALCUTTA (Reuter)—Eighty persons were reported killed and 825 injured in "Direct Action Day" demonstrations here today.

Reports of further disturbances and mounting casualties continued.

The Moslem League, second largest political party in India, called a country-wide strike for today to start its "direct action" program.

Shops and markets closed. Some buses and cabs attempting to operate were stopped by Moslem volunteers, who squatted at street junctions, halting traffic. Police vans were not molested.

The casualties resulted from clashes in various parts of Calcutta. Pedestrians were reported assaulted and some stores looted.

The Moslem League, which claims to speak for India's 90,000,000 Moslems, recently rejected the British independence plan after first indicating acceptance.

Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, president of the predominantly Hindu Congress Party, largest in India, met Thursday night in Bombay with Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, but made no progress toward agreement.

Nehru said the Congress Party would go ahead with formation of an interim Indian government, with or without the Moslem League.

Troops were called to stop the street fighting.

The office of the Bengal provincial congress committee was heavily stoned and several shops near were looted.

Elsewhere in the Moslem provinces of India the "Direct Action Day" was observed with a complete stoppage of work and traffic.

British troops stood by in Bombay where the All-India Moslem League president, Mohammed Ali Jinnah, was to address a mass meeting tonight.

QUESTION OF GOOD FAITH

CANADA'S WHEAT AGREEMENT WITH Great Britain means that this country will dispose of 600,000,000 bushels in the British market over a period of four years. During the first 24 months the sale price will be $1.55, the third year not less than $1.25, and the final 12 months the figure per bushel will not be lower than $1.

Mr. John Bracken, leader of the Progressive Conservative Party, criticized the pact in the House of Commons yesterday on the assumption that if "in two years or more" Canada attempted to charge more than the world price for wheat, Britain would take the position that the Dominion was unreasonable, and the agreement, consequently, would "blow up." The opposition chief infers, in other words, that Britain would cancel the pact because the world price fell below the contract figure. On that hypothesis, therefore, he questions the good faith of the British government. Obviously, the agreement has been criticized on various grounds; but Mr. Bracken is unique in that he is the first public figure in this country, we believe, to suggest that when Britons obligate themselves to a contract they figuratively begin to look for a loophole through which to escape from its provisions. In this case the implication is that they will arrange for it to "blow up" when market expediency appears to warrant.

From a purely business point of view, of course, both parties to the contract are gambling on what is going to happen to world wheat production "in two years or more"—as Mr. Bracken puts it. There are nevertheless advantages to both sides: Britain is reasonably assured of Canadian supplies, and the producers are guaranteed a complementary fair price which will, by the same token, induce the production of those supplies. And both countries are hoping the contract will act as a stabilizing influence on the domestic economy of each.

Nobody knows what world wheat supplies will be available "in two years or more," but under normal open market operations present prices will encourage a substantial surplus production—which must result in a heavy fall in world prices. From the British "planned economy" point of view, at the end of four years there should be an ample reserve in United Kingdom granaries purchased at an average price, or comparable to the "risk" price on the world's open market.

This agreement means, therefore, that the open wheat market, which is essential to trading in the world market, will be closed to Canada until July 31, 1950, and that the flexibility which was to have been retained in the Dominion's marketing policy is now discarded in favor of a "tied" trade in a vitally-basic exporting commodity. Presumably the course pursued by the federal government is part and parcel of the needs of its "ceiling" policy—and the market will remain closed as long as these circumstances appear to warrant. On that basis, moreover, the agreement is logically open to criticism. Whether the risk is good or bad is not the question; but Mr. Bracken's is the first suggestion that the arrangement would "blow up."

BARGAINING FOR POSITION

THE CONTROL AGREEMENT FOR AUSTria signed by the representatives of the four European occupying powers—Britain, the United States, Russia and France—stipulates specifically that among the primary tasks of the Allied Commission is that of maintaining "the independent existence and integrity of the Austrian state and, pending the final definition of its frontiers, to ensure respect for them as they were on Dec. 1, 1937," that is, before the Anschluss. Precisely the same intention is contained in the Moscow Declaration of October, 1943, between the original "Big Three."

It is, of course, impossible to maintain the existence and integrity of Austria if that portion of it occupied by Russia is stripped of practically all industry of importance in order to seize, by unilateral action, reparations which have as yet not been fixed by any treaty. Such procedure merely makes the possession of these assets an essential part of the process of "bargaining." The "bargain" itself becomes unilateral because the power of possession can be used to exercise enormous political pressure on the Austrian government. If under such circumstances the administration is unwilling to give up territory which is claimed, for instance, by Jugoslavia, and alter its boundaries, the whole portion of Austria dispossessed of all its equipment by Russia can be left to starve.

Such policies, which may be of temporary value in the process of bargaining, are bound in the long run to prove a boomerang. Just because the United States and Britain and most of the other 21 nations refuse to agree to such trading, it obviously suits the Kremlin to make them appear as "hostile" to the Soviet Union, or at least in conflict with the Russian attitude toward "fascism." All this conduct does in the end is to stir up hatred against the oppressor whose sole contribution to peace is to bargain for his own "security."

TUT, TUT, MR. JORDAN!

FULL NEWSPAPER COVERAGE OF THE Peace Conference in Paris has helped the peoples of the world to understand how much store some of the delegates set on certain words and phrases which caused long discussions at last year's meeting of the United Nations in San Francisco. The difference between a "substantive" matter and one that is purely "procedural" is nothing like as ambiguous as it was a short time ago. The terms become confusing only when they suffer from prejudiced interpretation—when, for example, it suits Mr. Molotov's purpose to call a point "substantive" instead of calling it "procedural."

Be this as it may; nobody in the English-speaking world will have much difficulty in understanding what was going through the mind of Mr. W. J. Jordan, New Zealand's delegate, when he let himself go today in a fine string of unparliamentary language. "Here we sit listening to quack, quack, quack, hour after hour; we are sick of it," exclaimed the fiery and forthright gentleman from the southern Dominion as he denounced the Russians for "this blasted old rot." Of course it was not nice of him; such verbal pyrotechnics are not fired in polite society. And in his response to this outburst of Jordanese, Mr. Andrei Vishinsky, one of the Soviet delegation who obtained his initial experience of Anglo-Saxon plain talk from Foreign Secretary Bevin at the first meeting of the General Assembly, intimated to the Conference that he would ignore "the harsh words" of the "temperamental" representative from New Zealand.

Mr. Jordan doubtless was beginning to get the impression that the deliberations in the Luxembourg Palace were less like a conference to lay the foundations for a just and stable peace than an effort on the part of some delegates to confound the issues by double-talk and selfish manoeuvre. But if his choice of the rough-and-ready phrase of the political hustings has offended the susceptibilities of the purists, including the erudite Vishinsky, Mr. Jordan at least succeeded in bringing some semblance of grass-roots reality to the proceedings. He will not be seriously blamed for that.

IS SOVIET POLICY 'REALISTIC'?

IT IS OFTEN SAID IN EXPLANATION or extenuation of Soviet government policies, that the Russians are "realists"—practical politicians who know what they want and go after it without too much diplomatic subtlety. Recently there have been a few dissenting opinions. Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, for one, brought from Russia the impression that Soviet leaders are confused and lack knowledge of the outside world. This view would seem to be strengthened by Mr. Andrei Gromyko's recent elaboration of Russia's previously stated position on the question of atomic energy control. If the U.S.S.R. instead of the United States were sole possessor of a proven, workable atomic bomb, the Soviet position might be considered realistic, or even ruthless. If Russia has never intended to attempt production of atomic bombs—which is to be doubted from some statements by Marshal Stalin and Mr. Molotov—this attitude could be ascribed to an admirable trust in sister nations never exhibited by the Soviet Union up to now.

But since the first hypothesis is untrue and the second unlikely, the present Russian plan appears surprisingly unrealistic. Let us look at Mr. Gromyko's arguments from the viewpoint of a government which has not progressed as far in atomic development as the United States, which professes to despise the "blackmail and atomic diplomacy" of American policy, and to fear the war-mongering of "reactionary cries" in America. Russia wants control of atomic energy kept in the Security Council, not vested in an independent international agency. But in any event, the veto power must remain. Russia admits that Security Council action might be necessary to prevent atomic violations, but at the same time she wants an arrangement whereby any of the big powers could block such action by the veto. Russia would have the individual signatories to a treaty of atomic energy control enact their own "severe punishments" against treaty violations. Atomic development, however, is such a vast, expensive business that only a government could finance it. Hence a government would not only know of violations, but would order them. It is naive to suppose that a government, under such circumstances, would "severely punish" itself.

SPORADIC CIVIL WAR

THE POLISH GOVERNMENT, IN WHICH the leader of the oppositionist Polish Peasant Party holds the office of Vice-Premier, says that more than 15,000 Poles have died in the constant clashes between the government and the "underground" since the defeat of Germany. The partizans who comprise the clandestine organization are said to include ordinary citizens who pursue their business by day and "terrorism" by night. This movement operates on the same basis as it did in the war, but it is now directed against the Polish government and Russian troops. The Warsaw regime has attempted to link Vice-Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk with the partizans, more especially as guerrilla warfare is carried on along interior roads and woods and in the foothills of the Carpathians—which indicates that a large part of its support must come from the peasants. Mr. Mikolajczyk is, however, a patriot who has always believed that given a fair opportunity without outside interference, his party could unite Poland.

It doesn't help any, but one reason why you haven't a mate like a movie star is that one like that wouldn't have you.

More People Needed

By HELEN GRAY

IMMIGRATION POLICY

CANADA needs lumbermen to cut logs; Canada needs farm labor so that next year's sugar beet crop will not be just half harvested; Canada needs men for factories and for service industries.

The people of Canada, themselves, are aware of this need. This year for the first time in history the Canadian Congress of Labor has come out for immigration. L'Action Catholique, one of the spokesmen for Quebec provnce, has shifted its position to plead for more people in our country.

All Canada asks it, and yet the government has not altered its prohibitive immigration laws, marred as they are with religious and racial discrimination and the outworn prejudices of the depression years.

IT IS AN economic question. An active and vigorous policy of immigration would put money in all our pockets and would greatly increase the national income. So, Canada could seize the opportunities which history is now unfolding before her.

Canada wants it. Europeans, who through the war have learned to know of Canada, are clamoring to come here. But these will turn instead to Brazil, Australia, the United States and other countries if our government does not at once revise its archaic position.

Let us repeat, this is a practical, economic problem urgently demanding a solution if Canada is to assume her rightful place in the postwar world.

ADDED to the lack of foreign immigration, the population is being steadily depleted by emigration to the United States. It is estimated that more Canadians have migrated to the U.S. since 1867 than the present population of Canada.

The argument during the war and during this current year has been that there is no available shipping space. This situation, officials expect, will be eased in 1947. In addition, many ships which could very well have been converted for such a purpose have been sold by War Assets.

Statisticians show that without immigration our country will have an almost static population, for at the present time, births do not sufficiently outweigh deaths and emigration. Over and against this is the opinion of some experts that Canada could handle a population of between 25,000,000 and 50,000,000, with a correspondingly steady increase in the standard of living.

THERE IS PROBABLY no other land expanse in the temperate zone with as great variety and extent of natural resources as Canada—fisheries, forests, minerals, farm lands, which should be turned into usable wealth.

For industry to come, there must be markets and labor as well as available resources. Immigration will augment the domestic market and it will bring about an influx of capital. Bringing in new peoples would not take up available jobs as much at it would create new ones.

Not 10 per cent of the returned soldiers wish to settle on the land. Immigration would counterbalance the shortage of farm labor and, as well, open new territories in the empty northwest. Furthermore, a greater population in the west entering into industry would create a more equitable balance between industry and agriculture, and between the west and the east.

Canada emerged from this last war a creditor nation. To play her role as such it is her duty to maintain a high level of employment so that she can import as much as possible from her debtors.

NEW SETTLERS would create this much-needed larger market. Nor should these settlers mainly be farmers or unskilled laborers. It is estimated that one-fifth of the world's known coal supply lies in Alberta; power is cheap in the prairie provinces—and there are abundant resources of all kinds from coast to coast.

This means that many highly-skilled workers could be incorporated in an expansion of heavy industry in Canada.

Since World War I, Canada has progressed, but she has not progressed as far as was possible. Lying idle are 27,000,000 acres of unoccupied and good farm lands. There is more railway mileage per capita in this country than in any other—built in the first place in expectation of a large population and often a tax burden because it is spread over too few taxpayers. The development of our highway system is retarded by the same condition.

But if we would approach, as we could through heavier population, an optimum development of lands and resources, we should gradually enjoy the benefits of a much-augmented national income carrying with it decreased taxation.

TO BRING THIS ABOUT, Canada must have a long-term program to attract immigration. Agencies should be opened in Europe with medical staffs to examine applicants. Literature shoud be widely distributed to apprise would-be settlers of the opportunities in our country.

Canada has emerged from this war, respected and prosperous. With vision and initiative she can truly become a great nation. But this she can never do so long as her population lies static around the 12,000,000 mark.

In five or 10 years hence the German problem will be here with us again and it will directly affect us, Poland and Yugoslavia—President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

If we want to raise the status of women we have to fight custom — Mrs. Hansa Mehta of India, UN Commission on Human Rights.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Foreign News Analyst
(Substituting for DeWitt Mackenzie)

The news from China leaves little doubt that that tragic country is on the verge of total civil war, with the prospect of years or decades of misery still more abysmal than that which she has been enduring for two decades. The American peace makers, Gen. Marshall and Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart, have proclaimed their despair over the chances of success of their efforts; how much longer these will continue is a question.

Chiang Kai-shek celebrated VJ-Day by proclaiming his readiness to end his one-party government without delay and open the national assembly Nov. 12. He promised other concessions and reforms, but none gained a favorable response from the Communists, who declare they have had little reason, through years of negotiations, to put faith in Chiang's promises.

The fighting, which still is not called civil war because peace negotiations continue and a truce is supposed to be in effect, has spread over most of the country north of the Yangtze River. The Communists hold nearly all Manchuria, nullifying the Nationalists' hopes that when Japan was evicted that would become the industrial backbone of the nation and its main hope for economic progress.

The battles extend over nearly all the northern provinces, before the war and Japan's campaign of plunder, the most highly-developed and richest between the Great Wall and the South China Sea. Great sections of the 450,000,000 Chinese people face the prospect of death by starvation or war.

Nothing in Europe's sufferings is on such a vast scale as China's plight and of the few reasons Europe can hope for better times almost none are present in China.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..
Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Use as directed for 10 days, and if then you say it has failed to improve your skin—money back; — stainless — greaseless.

Letters To The Editor

CLEAR AS MUD

Mr. Pearson states: "If the workers of this province are going to make up their minds they won't work and won't produce, then we'll all starve. It is as simple as all that."

In the "dirty thirties" we did without to the point of destitution, because we lacked purchasing power (man hours), not because goods and services were scarce.

Are we, in the doleful forties, to retreat to the point of destitution because of insufficient purchasing power of utilized man hours? Industrial production lags because production costs won't allow the price of consumer goods to be met by the purchasing public. The public want more wages to produce goods and services in order to acquire the same, the price of which must rise in order to meet this demand, and so on ad infinitum.

A vicious circle bounded solely by price, and all this while, the potential means of abundant supply remains the same as it was in the thirties, only more so.

About 1929, this continent attained that priceless boon to mankind, abundance of the means whereby we live. Ironically, we insisted this condition did not embody the quality termed "priceless." The depression was the disastrous result of this ignorance.

The solution, Mr. Pearson, does not lie in what the workers make up their minds to do or not to do, neither does passing the buck conform to the physical facts relative to the problem.

The sun not only measures our time, it supplies practically all our energy, which is also accurately measurable. It might be the solution to our problem lies within the realm of reality and not the realm of fantasy. It could be as simple as that.

Mrs. D. L. MacLaurin, immediate past president of the University Women's Club, leaves Sunday for Winnipeg as Victoria's delegate to the triennial conference of the Canadian Federation of University Women at Fort Gary Hotel, Aug. 21 to 23. Miss Margaret Crummy, corresponding secretary of the Victoria club, will also attend the conference.

Thursday's Bride Chooses Wedding Gown Of White

Phyllis Pauline, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Dawkins, 3739 Savannah Avenue, exchanged nuptial vows Thursday evening at 8 in St. Mark's Church with FO. William Richard Stanley, R.C.A.F. (R.), only son of Mrs. M. Stanley, 476 Kingston Street, and the late Mr. Stanley of Sweetwater, Texas.

The ceremony was performed against a background of pastel-shaded gladioli by Rev. O. L. Jull. Mrs. F. W. L. Moore played the wedding music and Norman Tyrell was soloist.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown, the taffeta skirt fashioned with overskirt of double net and the bodice of jersey silk featuring short sleeves and a sweetheart neckline. Her three-quarter-length veil was arranged on her head with tiny pink rosebuds and she carried a white prayer book topped with white carnations and sweetheart roses and showered with white streamers knotted with violas.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Edna Dawkins, wearing a frock of pale yellow sheer with smocked bodice and a wreath of sweetheart roses in her hair. She carried an arm bouquet of pale pink sweet peas and carnations. Della Whitmore was the little flower girl, frocked in pink net over satin with forget-me-nots and pink velvet headdress, and carrying a colonial bouquet of blue delphinums.

Howard Shemilt was groomsman and Sto. Thos. Moffatt ushered. A reception was held at the home of the bride, where mothers of the couple assisted in receiving. Mrs. K. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Large, grandparents of the bride and groom, were also in the receiving line.

Following a honeymoon at Sunset Inn, Qualicum, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley will reside in Nanaimo. For traveling, the bride wore a grey pinstripe suit, burgundy topcoat and black accessories.

Bananas Saved Child

PITTSBURGH (CP)—The life of little Lucille Tielsch is still all wrapped up in bananas, but it may not be too long before she can "take 'em or leave 'em."

At present she is taking them, 10 pounds every week.

Six years ago, doctors despaired of the life of the sickly, undernourished baby who couldn't digest food because of a rare coeliac disease. Then they discovered the banana diet.

Now a sturdy, yellow-haired youngster of eight, Lucille is beginning to fulfill predictions that she will outgrow the malady.

Klondyke Sourdoughs Stage 4-Day Reunion In San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In an atmosphere of nostalgia and tall-tales, the International Sourdoughs of the Klondyke here today are staging a four-day reunion—their first since 1942 in Seattle.

Approximately 1,500 persons directly or indirectly connected with the gold rush to Alaska half a century ago are in attendance.

Old-timer D. E. Griffith of Seattle is one of those who feels a "rightly about this first postwar rights" together.

"Directly co- sourdoughs have been homesick for this reunion for four long years," he said. "We feel like apologizing for turning back the pages of history 50 years, but we enjoy getting away, even for a day or two, from the swamps of selfishness and greed —from the wilderness of political strife."

Griffith drove a dog team between Skagway and Nome in 1900.

A woman who claims she was the first of her sex to make the trip over Chilcoot Pass to the Klondyke gold strike is attending the reunion.

Now 74, Mrs. Emile la Grois came more than 2,000 miles from Bonanza, Alaska. She first went to Alaska as the bride of Jack Tremblay, her first husband, in 1894, and made the trip over the pass two years later.

Youngest member at the reunion is 66-year-old Bert J. Parker, secretary of the Vancouver, B.C., chapter of the International Sourdoughs of the Klondyke.

U.S. Boosts Prices On Household Equipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Price increases estimated by an O.P.A. official to cost the public "well over $150,000,000 a year" were granted Thursday on such articles as radios, stoves, washing machines, vacuum cleaners, toasters and irons.

O.P.A. said the increases were required by the new price control law which specifies profit margins must not be cut below prewar levels.

Victoria College Summer School Students At Exams

All degrees of concentration are shown as the group of Victoria College summer school students wrote their Mathematics 1 examination Thursday morning. Examinations conclude today with the writing of English 1, and marks will probably be released early next week. There were 42 students attending the special summer session, the majority of them to obtain first year credits. Of these 24 were veterans. The other class offered was Physics 1.

Juvenile Crime On Decrease Here

OTTAWA (CP)—Juvenile delinquency, which reached an all-time high in 1942, is on the wane with the number of juvenile crime convictions in 1945 the lowest since 1940, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Thursday.

Juveniles brought before the courts in Canada in 1945 numbered 9,755 compared with 11,554 in 1944. Convicted of major or minor offences were 8,909 juveniles in 1945 against 9,917 in 1944.

Of the total of 5,758 convicted of major offences, 4,231 were first offenders and 1,527 repeaters. Boys were responsible for 5,516 of the major offences, with 242 attributed to girls.

Island Private Schools Follow Ideals Of British System

Vancouver Island's private schools have two objectives in the training of boys and girls. They are to use the best methods of imparting knowledge and to develop character.

These were the ideals of Dr. Thomas Arnold, founder of the modern English public school system. Island schools keep within the framework outlined by him as they strive for a flexible system suitable for today's students.

In the vocabulary of those in charge of the schools scholar and gentlemen are interchangeable words. In seeking to define the words it is difficult to distinguish between them for the emphasis is on behaviour or culture in both cases.

With the object of turning out "Christian gentlemen" or "Christian scholars" the school trains the boys to be Christians, gentlemen and scholars. It is stressed that in this way mind, body and character of the pupils all are developed.

Qualities for which the British race is famous including fairness and keeping one's word must be lived up to by private school students. Their training achieves a healthy pride in the school such as all decent men have for themselves, their family and country.

It is considered esssential for educated men and women to have a knwledge of the Bible which is taught for its own beauty and literature as well as because we are a Christian nation. Thus chapel is held not only to offer praise and thanks to God but also for the elevating nature of the service.

It is always kept in mind, however, that studies are of paramount importance. The private school encourages clever boys to try for scholarships. Instructors also take special trouble with boys and girls who are slow to learn.

Backward students receive extra coaching while brighter pupils are relieved in some instances from other duties if it is considered they can gain a scholarship through extra study.

All schools try to employ masters with scholarship and culture and a sympathy toward boys. Their keenness for their subjects is caught by the boys who seek to emulate the fine character of their teachers.

Periods are kept short enough to prevent pupils tiring although sufficiently long to impart information on the subject in question. Breaks in the work are the practise while a short afternoon session allows for plenty of time spent outdoors.

EXPLAINS NEW FAITH

"The Earth One Country," by Emeric Sala (Ryerson Press).

ACCORDING TO Emeric Sala, a Montreal executive, the Baha'i faith which is slowly making its way in the world today "does not offer a new path to immortality, nor does it attempt to abrogate the religions that have preceded it. It upholds the principle that religious truth is not absolute, but relative and that divine revelation is progressive, not final."

Explaining the new faith, Mr. Sala says that its acceptance does not presuppose a belief in the great prophets of the past. Christians and Moslems may be Baha'is though all Baha'is may not be either of the former. His title proves a good description of the faith which seeks to break down all national and racial barriers and develop a super national community.

Book Notes

"EARTH COULD BE FAIR," Pierre van Paassen's fourth book, tells the effect of two world wars on his tiny North Sea fishing village of Gorcum, Holland, through the fateful lives of his boyhood friends. Many grew up to be valiant anti-Nazi fighters in the Dutch underground.

UPTON SINCLAIR'S latest novel "A World to Win," contains more of the author's vivid close-ups including those of Roosevelt, Stalin, Churchill and Madame Sun-Yat-Sen. Latest in the Lanny Budd series the story also tells of meetings with Hess, Hitler and Goering.

LONGMANS GREEN describe "What Cheer" an anthology of British and American witty verse as "a collection of nonsense with a sprinkling here and there of bitter satire." Edited by David McCord the book contains writings of Ogden Nash, W. S. Gilbert, Dum-Dum, Margaret Fishback, Dorothy Parker and Christopher Morley.

Interest Increases In Public Speaking

"Speech that is varied is interesting," says Miss Doris Bagshawe. "Raise the voice, quicken the tempo, put color behind the words and what you say will be so much more effective."

In other words "It is not what you say, that counts, but how you say it." Miss Bagshawe considers that training in voice production along with public speaking, is a great asset to the prospective speaker. She states that an audience remains alert and interested when a speaker makes use of proper inflection but a monotone lulls them into indifference.

Miss Bagshawe has found that an increasing number of men and women are becoming interested in the study of public speaking and states that when the rules are mastered, public speaking loses its terror and in its place the student derives a great sense of satisfaction. It is well known that a course in public speaking can be and has been the start on the road to success.

Miss Bagshawe also teaches singing, giving special attention to breathing and interpretation. Another interesting course taught in this studio is the "art of conversation." This course also includes voice production.

Recently a student who received his training in this school has been given an appointment on a sponsored program over CJVI in Victoria.

Those who wish to enroll are advised to do so early, as only a limited number of new students can be accepted this term.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Personals

Honoring Miss Helen McDonald, whose marriage takes place in September, a miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. J. A. Speers, Wednesday evening at her home on Cadboro Bay Road. Upon her arrival the bride-elect was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink roses and white heather. The gifts were concealed in the hold of the "Ss. Happiness." Guests were fellow members of the staff of The Royal Trust Company and included Mesdames Phyllis Aitken, Elinor Muston, Helen Anderson, Misses Thelma Thompson, Wilma Aitken, Nancy Stephenson, Anna Lawrence, Patricia Betts, Marjorie Kinsey, Dorothy Prescott, Wilma Davis, Katherine Cory, Margaret Cargill, Josephine Murray, Rita Kaltenback and Jean Hooker.

Mrs. W. G. Foote, 1149 Tattersal Drive, entertained Thursday evening with a trousseau tea to honor her daughter, Miss Avis Berry, who will be married next week. The guests included former associates of Miss Berry at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Government Street branch. Mrs. P. Porter presided at the tea table, which was attractively arranged with a low bowl of roses and ivory tapers. Miss Nancy Foote showed the bride-elect's trousseau.

First Woman To Sit On Bar Council

LONDON (CP) — Mrs. Helena Normanton is the first woman to sit on the British legal profession's Bar Council, just as 27 years ago she created a sensation by being the first woman to crash the closed profession of the bar.

Mrs. Normanton for many years has been junior secretary of the Old Bailey. She was backed for the council seat by most of the councillors practising on the criminal side.

LONDON (Reuter) — Group Capt. Max Aitken, Conservative member of Parliament and elder son of Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher of the London Daily Express and Evening Standard, was married here today to Mrs. Jane Lindsay, daughter of R.O.R. Kenyon-Slaney and Lady Mary Gilmour.

Group Capt. Aitken was formerly commander of a radar group in Egypt and subsequently of a coastal command anti-shipping strike wing.

Couple United At Church Of Our Lord

Snapdragons and gladioli formed a floral setting in the Church of Our Lord on the evening of Aug. 3 for the marriage of Ruth Lottie Valiant, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Hayman and Allan James Davidson, son of Mrs. James Allan, Oakland, Calif., and the late Richard Davidson of Vancouver. Rev. D. L. Gordon officiated. The bride's niece, Miss Rhoda Mowat, was the soloist.

Given in marriage by R. D. Hoyt of Vancouver, the bride wore an afternoon frock of grey silk with side draped skirt, V neckline and short sleeves. Her picture hat was fashioned of black lace which had belonged to her grandmother and she wore a two-strand pearl necklace and earrings. A corsage bouquet of Talisman roses and violas completed the ensemble.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Attwood attended the couple, the latter wearing a rose crepe afternoon frock with black hat and accessories and corsage bouquet of white carnations. R. A. Mowat ushered.

A reception was held at the Kit Kat, where G. K. Beeston proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving for Vancouver, en route to Nanaimo and Shawnigan Lake, the bride wore a black pinstripe tailored suit with coachman model hat of black fur felt trimmed with baby ostrich tips, and black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Davidson are residing at 625 Michigan Street.

Missing Piece Of Pie Clue To Solving Murder

Arriving home at 5 p.m., Hollis Butterfield, accompanied by his five-year-old son, Dwight, found Mrs. Butterfield dead. She had been murdered — shot in the head with a 12-guage shotgun. Upon examination of the house, the police noticed that Mrs. Butterfield had baked two coconut pies and that one piece was missing. Obviously, as no one else had been near the house, it was eaten by the murderer. How this error brought the slayer to justice is told in the story entitled "Murder Clue of the Gay Divorcee" in the September issue of Inside Detective Magazine on sale today at your magazine dealers.

Housewives Help Gather Manitoba Vegetable Crops

WINNIPEG (CP) — It looked like an unbeatable combination—unfavorable weather and a labor shortage. Finally, after a dry spell that lasted weeks, it rained. All that remained was the help situation.

The market gardeners of Manitoba appealed to the provincial agriculture department. An inconspicuous advertisement was inserted in the newspapers asking for 200 women to work in the gardens. Their overwhelming response saved the vegetable crop.

You can see them daily if you happen to be driving in suburban Winnipeg. Their bright kerchiefs and straw hats bob up and down as they patiently weed and hoe the vast acres. They work in shorts or slacks or men's overalls. When lunchtime rolls around they reach for their kits and eat their sandwiches in the field.

H. R. Richardson, director of the Manitoba farm help service, calls them "invaluable."

"Normally, we have schoolchildren helping out during their vacations. This year we had a dry spring and heavy frost. The market gardeners didn't know whether they would have a crop until the end of June when the rain came. It was then that helpers were needed and weren't available."

The majority of the women once lived on farms although they now are city housewives. They prepare the family meals before they leave in the morning and cleaning is done after their return at night.

They have two reasons for spending their days under the burning sun. The principal one is to supplement the family income. Average wage is about $4.50 daily for the 10-hour day. The second reason is that they realize if they do not help out, the family meals are likely to be without vegetables.

Peter Daman of the Co-operative Vegetable and Potato Growers Association, says in some respects the women have proved far better than men.

"Men can handle machines better but when it comes to the little jobs that require patience, I'll take a woman. They are more careful and proficient at weeding and hoeing."

Their work is far from done. Later on there will be harvesting and the women intend to see the job through.

Mrs. Gordon Conant En Route To World Guide Meeting

LONDON (CP) — Wearing the silver-braided blue uniform of a Guide Commissioner, Mrs. Gordon Conant of Toronto is in England en route to Evian, Haute Savoie, France, where a world conference of Girl Guides takes place next month.

"I came over well ahead of time," she said, "I've only been with the movement six years and I started at the top. I did not work through the ranks unfortunately and there is much for me to learn."

She has tackled the job already. Mrs. Conant arrived only yesterday and this morning she spoke at a Canadian Guides meeting.

She leaves Saturday for Adelborn, Switzerland, camp where training conferences will be in progress. At the conclusion of the Evian meeting, Mrs. Conant is returning to England where the British association is planning a month's program for her.

Commissioner of Ontario's 17,000 Girl Guides, Mrs. Conant said she is impressed with the need for maintaining a sound policy and program for Guides.

"Fundamentally our foundation is as sound, perhaps sounder, than when it was laid in 1909," she said. "Our founder must have had a vision for there are always new ways in which it can be applied. During the war, for instance, Guides played an important part."

She constantly makes her notes in a black, leather-covered notebook. While in England she is staying with Lady Baden-Powell who invited her to Hampton Court during a tour of Ontario last June and July. Mrs. Conant leaves Saturday for the continent where she will be joined by Mrs. Norman Gianelli of Barrie, Ont., who is the second Canadian delegate to the World Conference.

Fellowship, Service Embraced In Rotary

Fellowship expressed in service towards others, the objective of Rotary, is the only solution to the problems confronting the world, Dr. W. J. Loaring-Clark of St. Luke's Church, Tenn., told a Rotary Club luncheon in Empress Hotel, Thursday.

"Build up fellowship in Rotary, let it girdle the world," was the advice of Dr. Loaring-Clark.

Canadians he felt were more internationally - minded than United States citizens, because Canada was part of a great Empire. He discussed the part Rotary International, comprised of men of many nations and creeds, could play in making an enduring peace.

"Power of the English-speaking peoples will dominate through Rotary," he said. "We are bound together in a common task as we were bound together in a common peril, during war."

He said he felt the English-speaking peoples were called upon to take the lead in world fellowship.

Drew Says Ontario Will Not Be Puppet

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (CP)—There must be "further Dominion-Provincial conferences to settle the financial differences between the major governing bodies but the Ontario government has no intention of becoming a "mere puppet" administration, Premier George Drew said Thursday night.

In a dinner address to the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves, Premier Drew reviewed the events leading to disagreement between federal and provincial authorities and said that the accusation that Ontario was a "rigid exponent of provincial rights" was "wholly untrue and directly contrary to the facts."

Premier Drew said the effects of the Dominion proposals would have resulted in a centralization of authority and a measure of control over provincial governments and municipal councils never contemplated by those who drafted our constitution and which "is entirely contrary to the established principals of the federal system in every country."

Stowaway Wife Held

Police Ask Fines For Drivers Leaving Keys In Cars

Victoria Police Commission at their meeting Thursday agreed to ask A. J. Patton, city solicitor, to frame amendments to the Streets Traffic by-law covering penalties for drivers leaving keys in their parked cars.

The decision came after reading a letter from Philip Ellis, King George Terrace, in which it was suggested policemen collect a fine of $1 from motorists discovered leaving keys in their cars. Police Chief J. A. McLellan pointed out it was impossible to do this as it was the duty of the police court to levy fines.

"Ninety per cent of car thefts," said Mayor Percy George, "are due to drivers leaving keys in their cars."

It was also decided to ask Mr. Patton to draw up a by-law giving police the right to impound cars left in bus-loading zones once the bus transportation scheme came into effect.

Mayor George told the meeting Seattle police had the right to do this and that cars left in loading zones there were removed by derrick if necessary.

Report of the city police department for July showed value of stolen property reported as $8,210.33. Of this $5,577.10 worth had been recovered. Twenty-six persons were listed as missing during the month and all were located. Twelve cars were reported stolen and all were recovered.

Police court convictions totaled 353 with 56 arrests and 314 summons. Fines amounted to $2,320.

During discussion about establishing a juvenile detention home Mayor George stressed the need of support for the commission's efforts from municipalities of Greater Victoria.

The commission tabled a letter from Detective Henry Jarvis, president of the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association, asking that plainclothesmen have their clothing allowance increased from $100 to $150 a year and that a shoe allowance of $1 a month be granted.

The commission granted the association permission to hold the annual police ball, Nov. 1.

Constables R. R. McNeill, D. S. Morton and J. A. Baxter were presented to the commission and it was agreed their appointments to the permanent force should be effective Aug. 1.

29% Of Women Would Be Men, Fewer Men Would Be Women

By CANADIAN INSTITUTE of PUBLIC OPINION

TORONTO—What few men would like to be women think that they would thereby escape responsibilities.

But most women who would like to be men are so impelled with a view to gaining scope for responsibility.

That's one of the several paradoxical findings of the latest Gallup Poll among adult Canadians. Men and women representing all classes in accurate proportions, were asked:

"If you had a choice, which would you rather be—a man or a woman?"

Men replied—Man 80%, woman 6%, no preference 9%, undecided 5%.

Women replied — Man 29%, woman 60%, no preference 8%, undecided 3%.

How varying viewpoints influence attitudes on this traditional question is revealed in the typical reasons given by members of each sex for desiring to be the opposite, or the same.

REASONS

Men prefer to be men because: "A man has more privileges." "Larger professional field; more active life." "Prefer responsibility to being dependent." "A man asks for what he wants; a woman waits to be asked."

Women prefer to be men because: "Men have more opportunities and adventures." "A man has both a career and marriage." "They haven't as many aches and pains as women."

(Some) men would prefer to be women because: "She gets paid for it." "Haven't the responsibilities men have." "During the war she has shown herself wonderful."

Women prfer to be women because: "A man has too many responsibilities and has to work harder." "A woman has as many rights as a man." "I like being looked after." "I like a home and like to make a home." "The feeling of a baby in your arms is wonderful."

MALE DYNAMIC

It is significant that the desire of women to be men is usually associated with career interests and the view that the male is the dynamic sex.

Most men and women, however, revealed that they are happy as they are, thanks to the other sex. Typical are the woman who explained, "I like the way a man looks after me and works for me," and the man who likes being a man because he has "been able to have a nice wife."

1,000 Scholars In Sidney Area

SIDNEY—Attendance at district schools this September is expected to reach the 1,000 mark with 167 applicantts from Grades 7 to 12 at Mt. Newton and 158 for the same grades at North Saanich.

Other applications received are:

Sidney	1-6	155
Royal Oak	1-6	85
West Saanich	1-6	91
Cordova Bay	1-6	86
Keatings	1-6	49
Prospect Lake	1-6	42
Saanichton	1-6	41
Deep Cove	1-6	59
James Island	1-6	33
McTavish	1-6	28

Arrangement have now been completed for the transportation of school children of District No. 63 to and from schools.

In order to equalize attendance at Royal Oak and Cordova Bay schools certain pupils will be rerouted.

All high school pupils from East Saanich Road and adjoining roads from Sayward south to Royal Oak will meet high school buses at either Sayward corner or Royal Oak corner.

Arrangements were also made to transport, one day a week, 10 James Island children from the wharf to North Saanich high school, where they will take certain subjects.

Complete schedule of times and where the children will be picked up was worked out by the committee.

To Mark War's End

To make the end of the first year of peace the Labor Progressive Party has designated the week of Aug. 21 to 28 as "Peace Week."

"During the week we shall devote the full energies of our membership to impressing Canadians that the peace must be vigilantly guarded," Bruce Mickleburgh, chairman of the B.C. Peace Week committee said. "One hundred thousand Canadian casualties, including 40,000 killed, is too high of a price to pay for peace to throw it lightly away."

The Peace Week committee has received word A. A. MacLeod, Labor Progressive M.L.A. for Toronto-Bellwoods, will fly to the coast for the occasion to address a number of meetings throughout B.C.

Tim Buck, L.P.P. national leader, will make a CBC coast to coast broadcast, Aug. 28 at 8 p.m. (P.D.T.).

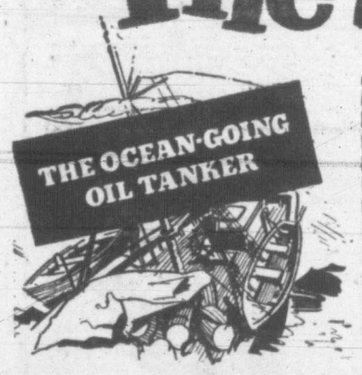
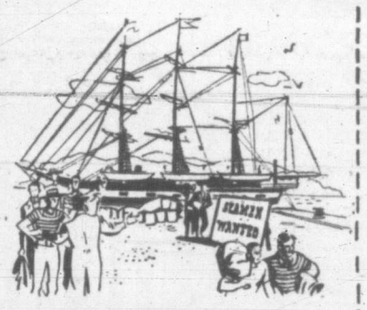
INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OIL

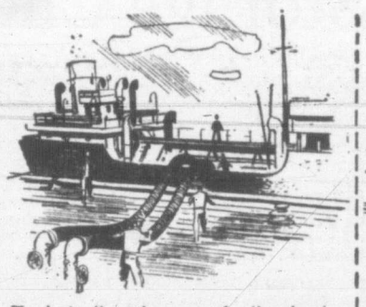
The Story of Oil Transportation...



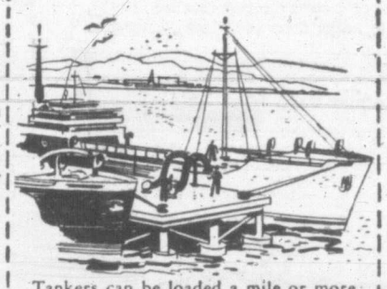
The first ocean shipment of oil was in barrels from the United States to England in 1861. As the ship rolled and tossed, the barrels sprang leaks and the oil splashed out.



In 1872, the first ship with special tanks to carry oil was built. But the tanks were never used because sailors feared to travel in a wooden boat with such an inflammable cargo.

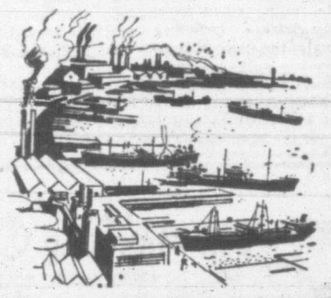


To-day's all-steel, super-safe oil tanker is the least expensive method of transporting oil. Through special loading hoses, crude and refined oil is loaded into many different tanks inside the hull. Large tankers carry about 5,000,000 gallons.

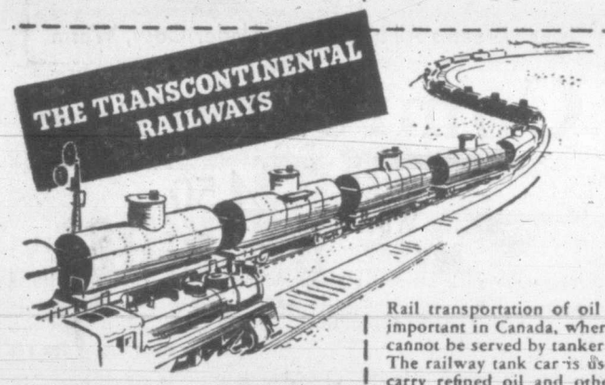


Tankers can be loaded a mile or more from shore—so neatly not a drop is spilled. Shore pumps deliver up to 20,000 barrels* of oil an hour. Each tanker has pumps to discharge the oil from its own tanks to those on shore.

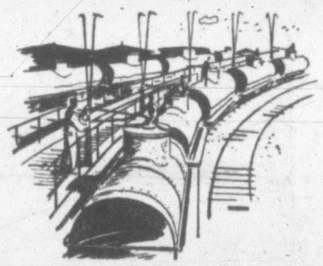
This map shows how Imperial Oil tankers bring crude oil to Canada to supplement Canadian crude supplies, which are not yet sufficient to meet all needs. The Imperial tanker fleet is one of the largest under Canadian registry.



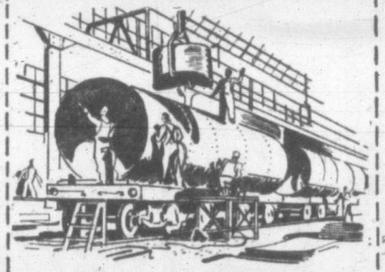
The Imperial Oil fleet includes large ocean-going, lake and coastal tankers. Modern safety devices are built into these ships. Imperial lost 4 tankers through enemy action during the war.



Rail transportation of oil is especially important in Canada, where large areas cannot be served by tanker or pipe line. The railway tank car is used largely to carry refined oil and other petroleum products like asphalt. Capacity varies from 190 to 240 barrels.*



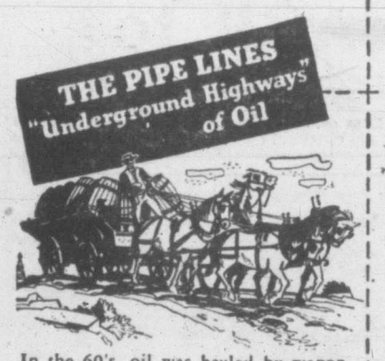
Special loading racks have pipe connections spaced so that all cars in a string can be loaded at once. There are about 160,000 oil tank cars in use to-day on this continent. Coupled together, they would form a train 1,000 miles long!



In all, close to 3,000 tank cars—having a capacity of over 20,000,000 gallons—are used by Imperial Oil in Canada. Most of these cars were built in Canada's own large car shops, giving employment to many Canadian workers.

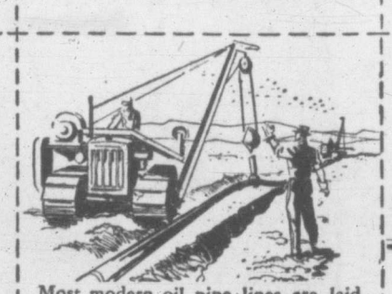
The railways of Canada are, themselves, among the largest consumers of Imperial Oil Products. Many specialized lubricants designed for railway operation make possible to-day's dependable, high-speed schedules.

The map above shows the important part played by the railroads in delivering oil and gasoline from the refinery or marine terminal points to inland communities. In remote districts Imperial Oil Products are sometimes "flown in" by plane.

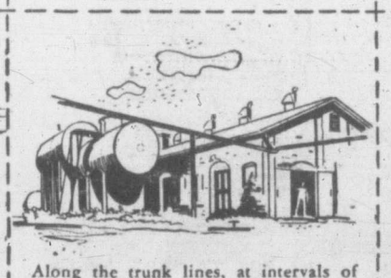


In the 60's, oil was hauled by wagon team from well to refinery. But poor roads made the cost so high that oil men began experimenting with pipe lines so that the prices consumers paid for oil and kerosene could be reduced.

The first successful oil pipe line was completed in 1865. It consisted of 5 miles of 2-inch pipe buried about two feet underground so as to be below plough depth. The line carried 800 barrels of oil per day.



Most modern oil pipe lines are laid underground by automatic machines which dig the ditch, lay the pipe and fill in the earth. To-day, there are hundreds of thousands of miles of such pipe lines in North America—including trunk, branch and feeder lines.



Along the trunk lines, at intervals of about 40 miles, pumping stations are located to keep the oil moving along "on schedule". Shown above is a typical pumping station, similar in appearance to the pumping stations in our city waterworks.

When an oil line springs a leak, pressure goes down on a gauge on the control board in the pumping station. A "line walker" locates the trouble. Leaks are speedily fixed, to prevent fire hazard and property damage.

Last lap of the journey from well to user is covered by the tank truck or trailer. Some units carry as much as 3,000 gallons in a single trip to the service stations through which Imperial Oil Limited provides service whenever needed—"everywhere in Canada and Newfoundland."

*A barrel of oil is equivalent to 35 gallons, Imperial measure.

Council Non-Committal On Plea For Transit Public Ownership

In silence the City Council, Thursday evening, heard a four-man delegation from Victoria labor organizations, request that no action be taken on the letting of tenders for a unified transportation system until full consideration had been given to public ownership of the system.

When the delegation had completed its brief, the whole question was referred without discussion to the transportation committee, together with the request that additional material in the hands of the labor groups be also submitted to the committee.

Asked for his opinion on the matter, Ald. H. M. Diggon, transportation committee chairman, who did not remain for the whole meeting, said he did "not propose to discuss the matter now." He left to attend a meeting of the Saanich Council at which the draft specifications for the transit system were being gone over.

George Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, in the brief described the service now being offered Greater Victoria citizens by the privately-owned transportation companies as obsolete in character.

ASKS FOR REFERENDUM

He pointed out that the transportation by-law will require a three-fifths majority of the electorate in all four municipalities, and that the different municipalities are divided in their loyalties to the three companies serving the area. "Therefore," Mr. Wilkinson continued "we are very doubtful whether a by-law favoring one company will pass in all the municipalities, and strongly recommend that the benefits of public ownership be publicized and placed before the public in a referendum."

Mr. Wilkinson also said many Victoria streets were in a poor state of repair, alleging that streetcars and buses were responsible for much of this.

In listing some of the advantages that would accrue from public ownership he pointed out that the city could use profits for the maintenance of streets, that the city could buy new, up-to-date rolling stock as cheaply as any private company and eliminate the necessity of even considering purchase of obsolete vehicles.

In addition, he stated the city would not have to pay income taxes on the earnings of a public utility, neither would it have to pay dividends to shareholders, applying those funds to new rolling stock and maintenance of streets.

He declared that establishment of a unified, efficient transportation system would also help solve the parking problem "as hundreds of people who daily use their cars for transportation to and from work would leave them at home if good facilities were provided at reasonable rates."

INDEPENDENT COMMISSION

For the operation of the system he suggested setting up an independent commission to control and operate the system.

Charles Chivers, representing the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference, told of experiences in some other Canadian cities with publicly-owned transportation systems, claiming that none had lost money during the war years. He offered his material to the transportation committee for study, which offer was accepted.

A. P. Rayment, president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, reiterated that the City Council should give the electorate an opportunity to decide the matter of public ownership on a referendum, and see to it that both sides of the question are presented.

R. F. Wiliams criticized the present system as "outworn."

Boston Opens Crucial Series With Yankees

The pennant-bound Boston Red Sox—and even the most conservative Red Sox rooters now feel certain their team will win this year—can all but sew up the American League flag if they are able to sweep the four-game series that opens today with New York Yankees.

Although it may be another month before the Sox can make it a mathematical certainty, the race has reached a point where a mild winning streak by the pace-setters, especially against their closest competitors, will make the Yankees and Detroit Tigers start thinking about next year.

If the Red Sox, now enjoying a 12-game lead, beat the Yankees in all four games and go on to play .500 ball in their remaining 37 contests, the Yankees will be faced with the difficult task of wining 37 of their remaining 39 games in order to steal the pennant.

The Yankees prepared for their hub invasion yesterday by sweeping a doubleheader from Washington Senators at the Yankee Stadium 6 to 1 and 7 to 2. Outfielder Sam Chapman ran riot in Philadelphia, hitting three home runs, to lead the Athletics to a 5 to 3 victory over the Red Sox.

NEWHOUSER WINS

Hal Newhouser, whose hopes of winning 30 games this year suffered a serious blow when he lost two games in succession, came through with a splendid 3 to 0 shutout victory over Chicago White Sox in Detroit to give the young Tiger lefthander a fighting chance to yet realize his ambition.

In the torrid National League race, the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers increased their margin to two games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals by trampling New York Giants 7 to 1. Cincinnati Reds snapped a nine-game losing streak when they defeated the Cubs in Chicago 9 to 3 in the first game of a doubleheader but dropped the nightcap 3 to 2.

Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils divided a twin bill at Boston, the Phils outlasting the tribesmen 15 to 11 in a free-hitting first game and the Braves winning the second 3 to 1.

Chandler Silent On Owen Decision

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—The Mickey Owen decision "speaks for itself," A. B. (Happy) Chandler, commissioner of organized baseball, said today.

Arriving to toss the opening ball for the national semi-pro baseball tournament tonight, Chandler said he had "no more comment" on the decision to stand by his five-year suspension of the former Brooklyn catcher.

Hollywood Regains First Division Berth

Hollywood's Stars, winners of six out of eight games under new management, regained the first division of the Pacific Coast Baseball League in a battle that has broiled hotter than the first-place fight.

The Stars' 6 to 2 victory over the Seattle Rainiers last night ousted the losing Sacramento Solons from the fourth rank and left them in the lower bracket, half a game behind. Just before Jimmy Dykes took over as manager of the Stars, Sacramento had butted Hollywood down the ladder to gain the first division.

Hollywood made three-run innings out of the seventh and eighth to come from behind and win the Stars' first in three games in the current series with the Rainiers. The first three runs were unearned. Glenn Stewart's double, scoring three, topped the seventh-frame attack.

The Oakland Oaks hung up their third straight defeat of the Solons, 7 to 3, also coming from behind and scoring three-run clusters in the seventh and eighth frames.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

The reductions of the Solons to the second division came shortly after the Sacramento board of directors gave manager Earl Sheely a rumor-quieting vote of confidence.

San Francisco's circuit-leading Seals staved off late inning threats to defeat the Portland Beavers, 5 to 3. Portland collected 13 hits off winner Bill Werle and relief hurler Frank Rosso, but the Seals made four of their total of eight bingles count for two runs in the fifth and three in the sixth.

The San Diego Padres nosed out the Los Angeles Angels, 2 to 1, behind the seven-hit hurling of Tom Seats.

Two Cricket Games Scheduled Tomorrow

Two Victoria and District Cricket Association games are on the sports menu for tomorrow.

The league-leading Oak Bay team will play the second-place Five C's at Windsor Park starting at 2.30. Albions and Navy will meet at Beacon Hill at the same time.

Teams follow:

Oak Bay: Dobbie, Colquhoun, D. L. Morgan, O. B. Morgan, Tisdall, Sparks, Scott, Brewin, James, Robinson and McNair.

Five C's: Harper, Griffin, Pugh, Hardt, Shrimpton, Petch, Attwell, McKeachie, Comley, G. Payne, P. Payne, Gardner, Van Druten.

Albions: Oakman, Pritchard, Thorner, McIlvenny, Currie, R. Rowe, J. Rowe, Pite, Barclay, Lewis, Freeman, Swainson.

Esquimalt Wins Fastball Thriller Against Dockyard

The first game of the best-of-three series in the senior B division A section city fastball playdowns last evening was a killer with Esquimalt Meat Market emerging with a 4 to 3 victory over Dockyard Civil Service after 10 innings.

Dockyard tied the game at three-all in the eighth. They continued their drive putting two men on bases in the first half of the 10th. A double play by Esquimalt halted them.

In the last half of the 10th, Pitcher Kinch for Esquimalt singled and subsequently landed on third through errors. He hit home with the winning run on Ellis' outfield fly.

Hudson's Bay girls beat Adverts 3 to 2 in another thriller last evening. The Bays scored their three runs in the seventh and final inning. Flo Kennedy was the winning pitcher. Pollard was on the mound for Adverts.

Another close win was scored by Oak Bay when they beat Duffy's 5 to 4.

Joshua Green Wins Seniors' Class Title

First class champion of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association tournament at Oak Bay was crowned Thursday afternoon when Joshua Green of Seattle defeated J. P. Paret, Victoria, 4 and 3 to lift the class "AA" title.

In the annual international match betwen Canadian and American members yesterday the teams battled to a draw. Last night the members gathered at the Union Club for the annual banquet.

Results yesterday in other class championships follow:

CLASS "B" CHAMPIONSHIP

John Hart won from J. W. Ruggles, 1 up.

R. H. Lyon won from P. W. Blanchard, 2 up.

CLASS "C" CHAMPIONSHIP

E. L. Skeel won from H. Lilly, 5 and 3.

Leslie Bell won from F. Burnaby, 1 up.

CLASS "D" CHAMPIONSHIP

N. L. Zimmerman won from Homer Frye, 2 and 1.

J. Hamilton won from F. R. Titcomb, 1 up.

Boston Fans Clamor For Series Tickets

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Red Sox, bombarded by applications for world series tickets, announced today they would make known a policy "within a day or two" and that for the first time in the history of the classic tickets may be bought for a single game.

Eddie Collins, vice-president of the Boston club, said that no applications for tickets would be accepted, however, until the Red Sox have clinched the American League pennant.

Saanich Thistles Form New Athletic Group

An organization meeting of the Saanich Thistles Athletic Club was held at the home of A. Cameron, Millgrove Street. The first activity of the club was to start the formation of soccer teams to be entered in the second division and in the under 21 years division. The teams will be under the management of A. Cameron and A. Alcock. The first practice will be held Sunday morning at 10 at Hampton Park.

Finalists Today In Seniors' Golf Tournament

Canadian Legion Score Seventh Straight Box Lacrosse Victory

A 9 to 6 win for Canadian Legion over Foul Bay at Stevenson Park last evening puts them two games or four points ahead in senior box lacrosse league play.

It was the vets' seventh win in as many starts. Tillicums, who have finished league play are second with five wins and three defeats. Foul Bay in third can tie with them, having won four and lost three. Jokers have won two and lost five. Navy is at the bottom of the list with seven losses in as many starts.

Foul Bay tried hard last night but their rally in the latter part of the third period and during the fourth was not strong enough to down the Legion. The vets were ahead 7 to 0 early in the third session and scored two to Foul Bay's six in the remaining time.

LEGION LOOKS GOOD

In the first period Legion looked particularly good with excellent combination play. McGaghey and McKim each scored before the end of the quarter. McKeachie made it 3 to 0 in the second. Shortly after while his team was playing one man short on a penalty, Popham scored a fast one to make the score 5 to 0. Ransom added another Legion marker before the end of the half.

In the third after Legion had scored another goal, Thomas finally put Foul Bay on the scoreboard while Popham was off on a penalty goal. A goal by Irwin and two by Chungranes made it 7 to 4 and things began to look more interesting. But Baker and McKim slowed down the Bay drive each scoring a goal for Legion. Taylor and Halbert scored for the last two of the game for Foul Bay.

Line-ups:

Legion: Long, Mason 1, Watson, Popham 1, Baker 1, J. McKeachie, Ransom 1, McCaughey, T. McKeachie 2, McKim 2, Rhodes.

Foul Bay: Thompson, Reid, Chungranes 2, Wilson, Halbert 1, Irwin 1, Shubrooke, Taylor 1, Walker, Holding, Thomas 1, Ludbrooke, Crockett.

Legion will play their last league game tonight and should remain undefeated. They meet the bottom team, Navy, at Stevenson Park starting at 6.30.

GUN CLUB PICNIC

The annual picnic for children of members of the Vancouver Island Rifle and Gun Club will be held Sunday afternoon at Witty's Lagoon. The youngsters will be transported to the picnic ground by private cars.

Green Returning For Auto Races At Langford Tomorrow

"Look out Caldwell, here I come," says former Victorian Buddy Green, who will be over from Seattle with six other major race car drivers for another international race program at Langford Speedway tomorrow night.

Green who nearly dethroned the local king of the track, Digger Caldwell, when he appeared here last week for the first time since early in the war, thinks he will make the grade this time.

He will be driving the same car, No. 7, as he had before but she will have had some hopped-up work done on her.

Lou McMurtry will be here also in No. 27 which has been overhauled since this season. Popular with the fans, Lou may be the dark horse of the meet.

Others from the U.S. to appear are Del Fanning in No. 26; Zeke Ziegler in a new car No. 10; Daryl Baker in No. 33; unnamed driver in No. 14. No. 39 will be on hand also and will be driven by Jack Spaulding, Victoria.

The local boys are ready for the invasion and one of the hottest race meets of the season is expected. Time trials will start at 7.45.

Boston Braves Buy Lohrke

BOSTON (AP)—The purchase of infielder Jack (Lucky) Lohrke from San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League for cash and five players was announced today by general manager John Quinn of Boston Braves of the National League.

Lohrke, the most sought after young prospect in the Coast League, will report to the Braves at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., next spring.

The youngster had been with the Padres only a short time, having been recalled from the Spokane Western International League club about an hour before a bus crash took the lives of nine Spokane players.

Lohrke was batting .363 for Spokane when called up by San Diego and last week his record was .331.

American Football Players Hold Opening Practice Sunday Morning

First sign of autumn in the local sports picture is the announcement that the Macdonald Park gridiron will feel the feet of local American football stalwarts in the first practice of the season Sunday.

The practice will get under way at 10 in the morning and on hand to put all-comers through the paces will be Bill Bishop, Jim Smith and Ed Rorvig, coaching experts of the pigskin pastime.

Many of last year's Mustangs will be in strip and others are expected to answer the call.

The team of seniors will not be known as the Mustangs this season. Something new will be added at a later date.

FIRST GAME SEPT. 21

Arrangements have been made for the club to enter an inter-city league to play eight games, with the first in Victoria on Sept. 21.

Other teams in the league will be from Bellingham, Everett and Port Angeles on the U.S. side. Two Vancouver teams also will be in the play.

For the opening game here, it is the hope of local officials that Athletic Park will be made available. If this is the case, the game will be played under lights at night. Other games during the season probably will be seen at Macdonald Park.

Johnny Ruryk, club propaganda man, reports new equipment for the gridders has been ordered and is expected to arrive shortly in the city. Says he: "We'll have a winner this year."

Bruneteau Named Playing Coach

OMAHA (AP)—Modere Bruneteau, 31, Detroit Red Wing veteran hockey player, today was named playing coach of Omaha Knights of the United States Hockey League.

The assignment was announced by manager Jack Adams of the Detroit club, in charge of talent on the Omaha farm club.

Bremerton Home Runs Beat Tony Chappetta

Making his first start for Victoria Athletics in Western International League baseball last night, Tony Chappetta, formerly of Yakima Stars, lost a tough 6 to 5 decision to Bremerton Bluejackets. The slender right-hander made the mistake of feeding home run pitches to Bill Barisoff and Bill Reese and it cost him the game.

Beans Marionetti, Victoria third baseman, smacked a circuit blow but also made three errors that proved costly to the local club. Each team picked up eight hits but Bremerton turned in an errorless exhibition.

After Athletics had picked up three runs on four hits in the top half of the second, Bremerton came back in their half to register four tallies on only two hits. Athletics regained the lead 5 to 4 with two runs in the top of the fifth only to have Bremerton tie it up in their half. Winning run was scored in the eighth.

Pintar and Medeghini worked on the mound for Bremerton with the latter taking over in the second inning.

WENATCHEE WINS

Pace-setting Wenatchee, smacked down on successive nights by sixth-place Yakima, got into their batting clothes last night to drive out 19 hits for a 19 to 5 win over the Stars.

There was plenty of power in other sections of the league, too, it seemed. Vancouver walloped Spokane, 16 to 8 in a contest that produced a total of 37 hits and 10 [illegible]

The lone pitching win occurred in Tacoma where Steve Gerkin hurled a 4 to 0 shutout over Salem and gained a little personal revenge for having been released by the Oregon club.

Ray Orteig powdered his 20th four-base blow—and fifth of the current series—in Vancouver's win over Spokane.

Short scores follow:

Wenatchee	19	19	2
Yakima	5	10	7

Batteries—McCullum and Fitzgerald; McHugh, Simon (3), Bohnen (4) and McConnell.

Spokane	8	16	10
Vancouver	16	21	2

Batteries — Collins, Al Raimondi (7) and Clifford; Bryant, Jim Hedgecock (7) and Spurgeon.

Salem	0	6	3
Tacoma	4	8	2

Batteries—Gunnarson, Fallin (8) and Salmon; Gerkin and Kemper.

Ciros, Hoyle-Brown In Fastball Battle

Tonight at Central Park Ciros and Hoyle-Brown hook up in the seventh game of the current playoff for the city senior A men's fastball crown. Play will start at 6.30.

Ciros with three victories need only one more win to take the honors. Hoyle-Brown have won two games and must finish on the right end tonight to keep the series going.

Joe Bryant is expected to hurl for Ciros and Stan Tenning for Hoyle-Brown.

Service Fastball Finals Next Week

Finals in the interservice men's fastball league will be played next Tuesday and Thursday evenings at Work Point or Colville Road parks starting at 6.30.

In semifinal sudden-death games, Army beat Air Force 20 to 4, and H.M.C.S. Naden won from H.M.C.S. Gevinchy, 10 to 8.

Dog Show Entries Close Tomorrow

Entries for the all-breed championship show of the Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association at the Bay St. Armories, Saturday, Aug. 31, will close tomorrow. Entries should be sent to the secretary at 735 Pandora Ave., telephone G 4788.

Mrs. G. C. Bloomfield, who acted as show superintendent for the big show of the B.C. Kennel Club at Vancouver last month, is in charge of the local event and forecasts an entry of over 300 dogs from all parts of the Pacific Northwest and California.

The DOCTOR Says:

OLIO, HARD TO RECOGNIZE, STRIKES FAST

By WILLIAM A. O'BRIEN, M.D.

Infantile paralysis (without paralysis) is difficult to recognize, for it closely resembles other diseases. The virus enters the body by way of nose and throat and causes a generalized infection; in a small number of cases, permanent damage to spinal cord results.

The onset of infantile paralysis is usually sudden, with fever, aching pains, headaches, sore throat, and vomiting lasting a few hours or several days. Parents may notice that the child victim dislikes to be held, probably because of sore muscles, and this may be the only sign which suggests that the mild illness from which he seems to be suffering is actually infantile paralysis.

Children with infantile paralysis are restless, fall asleep and awake suddenly, and become fussy when disturbed. The mouth temperature rises to a point between 99 and 100 degrees in the average case.

THE VICTIM VOMITS

Vomiting and headache are present in practically every instance, but diarrhea is not so common. The neck and spine are stiff, and the child may cry out when his head is moved.

Physicians often recommend a spinal puncture as a means of drawing off a sample of spinal fluid for examination in the laboratory. In infantile paralysis the infection in the spinal cord produces an increase in fluid pressure and an increase in the number of cells in the fluid. Mild infantile paralysis may be present even though the spinal fluid is normal.

In the exceptional case of infantile paralysis, that which goes on to paralysis, the onset may be either mild or severe, but after the third or fourth day of the illness the child, instead of improving, gets worse.

Some patients while apparently convalescing find that they are unable to move an arm or a leg because of muscle weakness, while in others paralysis develops early in the illness.

Pain and sensitivity in the limbs, back, and chest are observed in the infantile-paralysis victim. When twitchings occur early, they may indicate that the muscles will be affected later.

In bulbar poliomyelitis the spinal cord is infected near its attachment to the brain, with resulting paralysis of the throat and chest muscles. The first sign of this may be the return through the nose of water which the patient has attempted to swallow, due to failure of the palate to close off the nose.

A change to a nasal quality in the voice is also a common indication of bulbar poliomyelitis.

The virus of infantile paralysis injures the spinal cord, which in turn prevent the passage of nerve impulses to the muscles. There is a tendency for the cord to improve, as many of the nerve cells, though hurt, are not killed.

PEOPLE IN CEYLON HAVE LEGEND ABOUT ADAM AND EVE

People sometimes see certain natural objects, and then make up stories to explain them. This is most true of savage tribes, but it has happened in places where people are more or less civilized.

Between India and the island of Ceylon we may see a number of rocks which jut above the water a short distance. These rocks gave rise to a story, or legend, which has been told many times by natives of Ceylon.

The people of Ceylon have religions of several kinds. Most of them are Buddhists, but there are about 1,000,000 Hindus, and 300,000 Mohammedans, along with 440,000 Christians.

The Mohammedans seem to have invented the legend about the rocks between Ceylon and India. Their religion was built in part out of the Jewish faith, and in part out of Christian ideas.

Here is the legend of which I speak:

"Adam and Eve were people of gigantic size. Adam was 12 times as tall as a man today.

"After being driven out of the Garden of Eden, they made their way to India. They were so tall that they could wade across wide rivers along the way.

"Walking southward they came to the seacoast. At this point, Eve said, 'Let us go back,' but Adam replied, 'No, I am going to that island.'

"As he spoke, Adam pointed toward the island of Ceylon. Soon he started to wade out in the ocean, but he found the water too deep for wading.

"Going back to shore, Adam kicked a big rock into the water. Then he hurled other rocks into the sea. The result was that stepping stones were placed in the water. Adam and Eve now were able to cross the water until they reached Ceylon."

P.P.C.L.I. On Trip Along Alaska Road

EDMONTON (CP)—Headquarters Western Command said Thursday the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and the Lord Strathcona Horse were carrying out a reconnaisance of the north country along the Alaska Highway. The scheme is known as "Exercise Muncho."

A convoy of 43 Canadian army vehicles left Grande Prairie for Whitehorse Thursday.

Main objectives of the exercise are to familiarize the troops with the type of country and certain essential repair jobs necessary to keep the highway open.

The Public Library will reopen next Tuesday morning at 9, it was announced today.

A building permit has been issued to Savannah Studio to make alterations costing $1,100 to 780-84 Fort Street.

Young Colin Corbett of Newport Avenue, this morning caught a 36-pound spring salmon off Oak Bay boathouse, using a light rod, Cowichan spinner and worm.

City firemen reported fighting a log fire at Clover Point for two hours Thursday evening. A beach fire in logs below South Turner Street took close to an hour to extinguish.

City police were searching today for 10-year-old Thomas Langcaster reported missing from the home of N. Scott, 710 Wilson Street. Mr. Scott told them the boy left home Thursday to go to a movie and had not returned. He was wearing black overall pants, blue suit jacket and brown oxfords.

The City Hall Employees' Association has renewed its request to the City Council for appointment of a new personnel committee, and also that the revised salary schedule be submitted to the employees before it is placed in the by-law.

A former army hutment from Holland Point has been moved to Beacon Hill Park for conversion into a dressing-room to serve the playing fields there, H. W. Warren, parks superintendent, said today. Plumbing material shortages may delay the conversion.

One hundred and sixty-five Canadian-born Japanese citizens enlisted in the Canadian army during the war, according to figures of army public relations. Five of this number were women who joined the ranks of the C.W.A.C., of the remainder all but two joined the active army serving at home and abroad.

Whaley For Third Time Seniors' Golf Champion

For the third time in the 24-year history of the Seniors', Northwest Golf Association a member has won the grand championship three successive years. Ralph Whaley of Seattle turned the trick at Oak Bay today when he defeated E. N. Eisenhower of Tacoma five and four over 18 holes. Eisenhower was tournament medalist. Whaley thus retains possession of the Barnard Cup.

Premier John Hart is the only other member to have won the championship three times. He lifted the crown in 1935 and 1936 and then came back to take it again in 1943.

After experiencing trouble with his game earlier in the week, Whaley was at his best today. On the 14 holes he hit only one shot badly.

On the other hand Eisenhower was off form and after putting his drive into the trees on the first hole was never able to smooth out his game.

A large gallery followed the finalists who teed off at 10 this morning.

A birdie four moved Whaley into a one-up lead on the first hole. Both were in a trap at the second and Whaley needed two putts after getting out and lost the hole to Eisenhower's par three.

Whaley's par four won the third and he was one up again. Another four gave the champion the fourth to make it two up. The fifth was halved in par fours. Whaley won the sixth with par four and was three up.

Eisenhower won a hole back with his par three at the seventh. The next four holes were halved in par figures. At the 12th Eisenhower failed to sink a four-foot putt and was three down again.

On the short 13th Eisenhower was in a trap to the left and lost the hole to Whaley's par three to be four down.

Whaley's par three won him the 14th and the match five and four.

Premier Chosen To Head Seniors

Premier John Hart was elected president of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association at the annual meeting here this week. J. H. Ballinger, Seattle, was elected first vice-president, and Mayne D. Hamilton, Vancouver, second vice-president. The Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia was chosen honorary president.

A. V. Macan was appointed secretary-treasurer, succeeding Capt. J. V. Pearks, who held the position since the association was formed 24 years ago.

Elected to the board of governors were:

For three years: E. L. Skeel, Seattle; E. N. Eisenhower, Tacoma; Philip Wolfe, Vancouver; E. D. Todd, Victoria, and E. H. Hughes, Spokane.

For two years: Col. W. G. Swan, Vancouver; Dr. O. B. Wight, Portland; Frank C. Neal, Tacoma; J. P. Paret, Victoria, and W. S. Babson, Portland.

For one year. J. W. Ruggles, Victoria; D. R. Munro, Portland; C. F. G. Pattullo, Spokane; R. E. Campbell, Seattle, and G. H. Raleigh, Tacoma.

Old Stone Church May Become Shrine

Bruce A. McKelvie, well-known British Columbia historian and newspaperman, told the Lions Club here this afternoon the Old Stone Church on Comiaken Hill near Cowichan Bay would probably be made into a shrine.

Mr. McKelvie said he had received the assurance from Bishop John Cody here before he left Victoria, that he would recommend converting the building, long a landmark in the Cowichan valley, into a shrine, to his successor.

"Victoria is in danger of losing its quaintness if the destruction of historic places continues," said Mr. McKelvie. "Soon the only things that will remain to add to the charm of the city will be the hanging baskets, the policemen's helmets and the English accents.

"Wharf Street, where history was made, is rapidly being modernized into just another street," said Mr. McKelvie. "Buildings with the old iron shutters and decorated columns are giving away to modernized brick and cement.

"In reecnt times the old Tolmie residence, one of the finest examples of colonial mansions, has been turned into an apartment building. The Tree of Liberty on Fort Street, near Pentrelew, has been cut down. The home of Chief Justice Begbie was torn down by the city only two or three years ago.

"Today the remnants of historic Victoria are becoming very meek. It is too bad because these things have a commercial value. The future prosperity of the city is largely dependent upon the tourist trade and these are things the tourists want."

Harry Dong was charged in city police court today with breaking, entering and committing theft at the store of Harry Sing Lowe, 846 Yates Street, last Sunday. The case was remanded until Tuesday.

William Anderson, naval stoker, was remanded until Sept. 30 and placed in the custody of a superior officer in city police court today after he was charged with assaulting and occasioning bodily harm to George McEwan, 2415 Douglas Street, Friday.

B.C. Calls Tenders For U.B.C. Library

Tenders were called today by the provincial works department for an addition to the library building at the University of British Columbia.

The deposits required of the tenderers indicate the work will cost in the neighborhood of $300,000.

Tenders will close at noon, Sept. 16.

Blame Shrubbery For Collision

Considerable damage was done to cars driven by Stanley Holt, Royal Oak, and Murdo MacKenzie, 1508 Myrtle Street, when they collided at the corner of Cook and Lang Streets, Friday.

Both drivers told police the accident had been caused by poor visibility due to high shrubbery and trees at the northeast corner of the intersection.

Rigid Observance Of New School Areas

Rigid observance of the new school attendance boundaries will be made with the opening of the new school term in September, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, warned today.

In June, he said, parents of all children who must change schools were notified, and although there had been some complaints only in exceptionl circumstances were children being allowed to attend a school outside their own area.

He pointed out that if personal preferences were taken into consideration, the boundary system would break down completely, causing overcrowding in some schools and possibly almost empty rooms in others.

During the first two days of the fall term principals will make a careful check on all new children in the school, and where any child is found attending the wrong school, they will be transferred.

Mrs. Margaret Parry, superintendent of the clothing department of the social welfare office, was presented with a bookcase on her retirement after 10 and a half years with the city, Wednesday afternoon. Mayor Percy George made the presentation on behalf of the City Hall staff.

Duncan Laundry Sold For $15,000

DUNCAN—Sale of two business properties here this week was announced by J. C. Wragg. Sums involved were reported in the neighborhood of $15,000 and $2,000.

Mr. Wragg has sold the Utilities Block, at Craig and Ingram Streets, which houses the offices of the B.C. Power Commission, Hillyard's Radio Service and Technocracy Inc., to Tony Hillyard, one of the three merchants. He sold the building which houses O.K. Hand Laundry on Government Street to Garner Bros.' Construction Co.

The Utilities Block was built under Mr. Wragg's ownership some 15 years ago, while the Chinese laundry building has been in Duncan for a much longer period. No change of tenancy in either building has been reported.

Duncan Creamery Plant Soon In Use

DUNCAN — Nearing completion, it is expected the new warehouse of Cowichan Creamery Association here will be in operation within three weeks, J. E. K. Burnett, president, told the semi-annual meeting of the association held in the Agricultural Hall.

He reported that a mixer would be in operation as soon as the new building was occupied. Other machinery would be installed as soon as possible, he said.

Rebuilding after the fire had been delayed by the shortage of materials, and the logging strike had increased the association's difficulties in carrying on for a longer period in temporary quarters. In spite of this, however, the feed business had increased.

A trade agreement with the V.I. Poultry Co-operative Association had been made, Mr. Burnett said, which should effect a saving in overhead to both organizations on their eggs.

Maple Bay Favors Proper Water System

DUNCAN — Maple Bay ratepayers are giving favorable consideration to the establishment of a proper water supply system for their district, with the source of supply at Crofton Lakes.

This was the report made to North Cowichan municipal council by Reeve D. D. Chapman at the council meeting on Thursday morning.

The reeve stated that at a meeting of the Maple Bay taxpayers held for the purpose of deciding whether they preferred a proper water system, which would require a bond issue of approximately $25,000; or a municipal well system which would be unable to give full service, but which would not require a bond issue, 47 persons out of 50 voted in favor of the first-mentioned plan.

As a result of this vote, he said, the services of H. P. Archibald, prominent consulting engineer, had been sought. Mr. Archibald is to make a survey of the Crofton Lake plan next Wednesday, and his report and estimate of costs will be submitted to the ratepayers at another meeting.

NBC To Televise 2 B.C. Movies

Two movies, made by the British Columbia government travel bureau's motion picture division, were dispatched today to New York City by air express to be televised by the National Broadcasting Corporation.

E. G. Rowebottom, deputy minister of trade and industry, said the film would be broadcast in the near future.

The movies, made on 16-millimetre film with color and sound, depict scenes of the Okanagan fruit-growing areas and the Cariboo.

"This has been provided through the National Film Society in Ottawa,' said Mr. Rowebottom, adding this was the first time films of B.C. would be televised.

Teaching Staff Here Complete

Victoria's housing shortage is further complicating the problem of staffing the schools in the area, J. F. K. English, municipal inspector of schools, stated today.

New teachers, hired from outside the city, are finding it virtually impossible to locate houses, suites, or even board and room, and in at least one instance a teacher has asked to have her resignation accepted because she cannot find living accommodation.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, 50 Years Married, Discusses Marriage

On Aug. 25 at "Lantern Lane," the home she made famous in the title of one of her many books, Mrs. Nellie McClung, well known Canadian authoress, will celebrate her golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. McClung plans to spend the day quietly with her husband and her family who are gathering in Victoria from many points in Canada.

The family will attend morning service at picturesque little St. Aidan's United Church, at Mt. Tolmie, tree-shaded and surrounded with bright summer flowers. Returning to "Lantern Lane," they will sit down to a family dinner at high noon. Later, Mr. and Mrs. McClung will greet old friends informally in their hillside garden.

Mr. and Mrs. McClung were married on Aug. 25, 1896, at Wawanesa, Man., 30 miles from Brandon on the Souris River, where Mrs. McClung had been teaching school for five years. Mr. McClung was a druggist in Manitou, Man., so they "set up housekeeping" there.

For the next 20 years Manitou was their "home town" and it was during this time that Mrs. McClung gathered the wealth of material from which she has written her many outstanding stories of Canadian life.

Later the McClung family moved to Winnipeg, Edmonton, Calgary, and then Victoria where they built their home at Gordon Head.

Asked for a recipe for a long and happy married life, Mrs. McClung said she was sure that "through husband and wife developing their own individuality without impinging on each other" happiness was assured.

"Mr. McClung and I are fond of different activities," she says, "but we have many happy times talking things over. In this way we never get under each other's feet—or in each other's hair."

At present Mrs. McClung is not writing anything for publication. She finds it keeps her "quite busy enough" answering her voluminous correspondence which comes to her from all over Canada.

Her last book "The Stream Runs Fast," a continuation of the many incidents in one of her first novels, "Clearing in the West," has received popular acclaim.

In the family gathering on Aug. 25 will be Mr. and Mrs. Paul McClung with Robert and Maxine, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Atkinson and their small daughter June, from Vancouver; Mrs. Jack McClung with Nellie and Johnny from Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Horace McClung of Victoria.

Another son, Mark and his family in Ottawa will be unable to be present.

Octogenarian To Fly To England To Visit Lancashire Hometown

No stranger to flying, Thomas W. Bradbury, 83, 515 Trutch Street, who was prominent in the city building trade before the turn of the century, will board a plane here Wednesday on the first lap of a flying trip to his birthplace at St. Helen's, Lancashire, England.

Preferring it to any other form of travel, Mr. Bradbury went by plane to Boston and return in 1943, and makes frequent trips to California.

He was last in Lancashire in 1908. Mr. Bradbury who has divided his time between California and Victoria, was in San Francisco during the 1905 earthquake and rebuilt Stanford University, after the diaster. He erected a number of big buildings in California.

He came to Victoria from England in 1887 and remained here until 1901. In the monumental stone business during that time, he made many of the large monuments which are seen on the grave of city pioneers. A number of Victoria's prominent builders served their apprenticeship under him.

Mr. Bradubury did construction work for both federal and provincial governments, having had a contract for finishing work and additions to the Parliament Buildings. He built the Nanaimo Post Office and the post office and custom house at Rossland. He did construction work for the C.P.R. from Vancouver to Steveston.

Mr. Bradbury owned a large quarry at Colusa County, California.

City Council Lauds Lieutenant-Governor

A resolution full of high praise for the generous and unselfish manner in which Lieutenant-Governor W. C. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward discharged their countless and incessant duties and responsibilities at Government House during their term of office will be moved at Monday's City Council meeting by Ald. F. G. Mulliner, and seconded by Margaret D. Christie.

Regret at the impending retirement of Lieutenant-Governor Woodward was expressed in the resolution which lauded him and Mrs. Woodward for the way in which they have gone far beyond all actual requirements of their situation to show a spontaneously cheerful, keen and active devotion to the best interests of this community and country and to exercise their kindly nature and friendly disposition by a whole-hearted and unsparing expenditure through the years, of time, money and effort, for the benefit and enjoyment of our people.

Best wishes were extended them for their continued good health, happiness and welfare. A copy of the resolution is to be sent to Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Woodward, the Secretary of State at Ottawa and the Provincial Secretary.

The City Council today tendered a farewell luncheon in honor of the Lieutenant-Governor at the Union Club.

2 Chinese Authors Visiting Victoria

Guests of the Dominion government two distinguished Chinese writers and scholars, Wan Chia-pao of Hu-Peh, and Dr. Shu Sher-yu of Peking, are visiting Victoria today.

Dr. Shu, author of "The Rickshaw Boy," a best seller on this continent, and numerous other books, and Mr. Wan, a dramatist and author, are being shown Victoria by Maj. L. Bullock-Webster, director of school and community drama for the B.C. education department.

They have visited the Provincial Archives and the Provincial Library, in which they showed much interest.

Having toured the U.S. as guests of the national government, the Chinese are now starting on a Canadian tour. They will leave for Vancouver Saturday.

Fire Hazard Decreases Throughout Province

Reports to the B.C. Forest Service headquarters Thursday afternoon showed a decreasing fire hazard in most forest districts and all forest fires under control.

Further layoffs of fire fighters in the Nelson district, where 24 fires were burning Thursday afternoon, were expected by headquarters today. Latest reports showed 207 fire-fighters working.

In that district, partly cloudy skies and cooler weather, along with rain in some areas, has come to the aid of the fire-fighters.

Twenty-eight fires were still burning Thursday afternoon in the Kamloops forest district but fire-fighters were not concerned since the weather was cool and cloudy with some rain.

In the Vancouver forest district, which includes all Vancouver Island, no fires were reported out of control.

Board Rejects Appeal Of Foundry Operators

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Regional War Labor Board has refused to grant foundry operators leave to appeal a recent decision which set aside a 10-cent-an-hour wage boost.

At the same time the board rejected a 15-cent-an-hour application.

A strike of Vancouver foundry workers ended last week, the men returning to work pending a report from the federal negotiator, Judge David Whiteside. He has concluded hearings in the dispute and will report to Labor Minister Mitchell.

It was understood the board's aim is to await the report before making any ruling on foundry workers' wages.

A spokesman for the foundry operators said today an application now will be made to the National Labor Board for necessary leave to appeal the regional board's decision.

City welfare committee is prepared to try and obtain a city lot on which an aged persons' club room could be built, and also to recommend that the city make annual grants toward operating costs, Ald. Margaret D. Christie, chairman, said today. The committee does not feel that it should undertake supervision of the recreation centre. "We feel that it should be the responsibility of the Community Chest and the private welfare agencies," she commented.

Canadian Pilot Exceeds 620 M.P.H.

TANGMERE, Sussex, Eng., (CP)—Sqdn. Ldr. William A. Waterton of Edmonton today whizzed above this seaside village at more than 620 miles an hour in a trial flight for an official attempt at the existing world air speed record of 606 miles an hour, held by Group Capt. H. J. Wilson of the R.A.F.

Sqdn. Ldr. Waterton's time had no official standing, and though no exact figure was given it was known to be slightly lower than the 626-mile-an-hour run achieved Wednesday by Group Capt. E. M. Donaldson in another trial flight that also will not go down in the record books.

Weather conditions still delayed the official attempt on the record which the two R.A.F. fliers hope to make before the week ends.

Although today was cool and he was in shirt sleeves, Sqdn. Ldr. Waterton sweated profusely when he landed after several runs over the course and surrounding countryside. It was his first flight in the plane in which he will seek the record.

"I gave the aircraft a very thorough test and it has come well up to expectation,' he said. "I achieved a speed of more than 620 miles an hour, but it was somewhat lower than Donaldson's 626. It was, however, at a slightly lower altitude and it is a slightly colder day, so the speed was quite compatible with conditions."

Enough Wheat To Load All Ships At Churchill

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister MacKinnon said today in the Commons he understood there was sufficient wheat in store at Churchill, Man., to load all vessels at or en route to the Hudson Bay port.

He was replying to R. R. Knight, C.C.F., Saskatoon City, who said he had a telegram saying the elevators were 100,000 bushels short of the capacity of vessels arriving there.

Mr. MacKinnon said he understood considerable freight had been moved into the port but instructions had been issued that wheat must be given first priority.

Air Service Licensed

OTTAWA (CP)—License for a non-scheduled charter commercial air service carrying passengers and goods and based at Telegraph Creek, B.C., on the Stikine River, has been granted to George C. F. Dalziel, the Air Transport Board announced today.

Amnesty 'Insult To Dead' M.P. Says

OTTAWA (CP)—T. L. Church, P.C., Toronto, Broadview, unsuccessfully tried to move the adjournment of the Commons today to discuss the write-off of deserters from service books and declared the move was an "insult to the glorious dead of this war."

Speaker Gaspard Fauteux ruled the matter was not urgent and that it could be discussed when Defence Minister Abbott's estimates were before the House next week.

2 Negroes Executed For Brutal Murder

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) (AP)—Two negroes wehe executed side by side early today in Missouri Penitentiary's lethel gas chamber for the brutal murder of a white woman that netted them less than five dollars.

It was the third double execution in the gas chamber since it replaced hanging in 1937 in the state. The two, Fred Ellis, 23, and Jesse Sanford, 37, had been convicted of beating Mrs. Mary Santo, 56-year-old widow, to death then wrapping her in a rug and burning her in her Pacific, Mo., home in 1943.

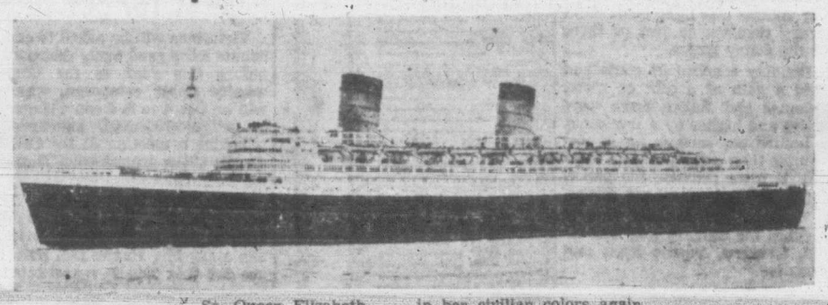
Elizabeth Stole From Clyde, Then Carried 811,000 Allied Troops And Served 22,000,000 Meals



Ss. Queen Elizabeth . . . in her civilian colors again.

The unprecedented wartime odyssey of the Queen Elizabeth, world's largest passenger liner now in the final stages of preparation for her maiden luxury voyage from Southampton, England, to New York, is now being retold.

The story opened in February, 1940, shortly before the Nazi blitz on England began. The Queen Elizabeth lay nearing completion in John Brown's shipyard, Clydebank, Scotland, a "sitting duck" for German bombers. The British government was worried. Not only did her presence there endanger the entire shipyard, but her huge hull of 83,673 tons took up space urgently required for war vessels. For the safety of the ship, the Admiralty requested that she leave the Cyde as soon as possible and "remain away from the British Isles."

Elaborate security precautions immediately got under way for the Queen Elizabeth's departure. Counter - intelligence agents swarmed through the Clyde-side area. "Confidential" information was allowed to filter out that the Queen Elizabeth was ordered from the Clyde to Southampton, where she would be put in drydock. To substantiate this story, a graving dock was prepared in Southampton and crew members taken on for the supposed trip. On Feb. 26, the Queen Elizabeth left her fitting-out basin and with an escort of six tugs proceeded down the Clyde for trial runs. Only at the last moment was the crew told of her real destination the United States. Then the Queen Elizabeth set forth on a hazardous 3,000-mile journey across the submarine-infested Atlantic towards New York, where her sister ship, the Queen Mary already lay.

The Queen Elizabeth arrived unscathed after completing her zig-zag trip in five days, and when the news was announced, thousands of New Yorkers flocked to the waterfront to catch a glimpse of her.

FOR WAR SERVICE

There she remained for nine months while workers rapidly carried her towards completion. The Cunard White Star Line had meanwhile received instructions to put the Elizabeth to war use, and on Nov. 13, 1940, she sailed for Singapore, to be fitted as a troop transport. From Singapore, she set out for Sydney, N.S.W., to begin her first voyage as a passenger-carrying liner. Loaded with 5,600 Australian and New Zealand troops, she left in convoy with the Queen Mary for Suez.

Throughout the critical summer of 1941, she carried reinforcements to the Middle East. Her massive gray hull and he hordes of khaki-clad figures swarming her vast decks became a welcome sight to the hard-pressed allies in Mediterranean ports. By the end of the year she had brought more than 40,000 troops from the Antipodes to the battleground from which the Allied armies were to attack the "soft-underbelly" of Europe.

After Japan made her surprise attack on Pearl Harbor, and began her smashing drive towards Singapore, imperiling the Australian continent, the Queen Elizabeth raced to San Francisco, picked up over 8,000 American troops and rushed for Sydney.

Wherever the global war called for reinforcements, the Queen Elizabeth did her part in speeding troops to where they were needed most. So fast that not even powerful destroyers could keep pace with her, she traveled for the most part without escort, dodging enemy submarines incessantly. In the summer of 1942, when Rommel threatened to overrun Egypt and the Suez Canal, and after she had been drydocked and had additional boilers put in her at Victoria the Queen Elizabeth carried divisions to the Eighth Army in time for Field Marshal Montgomery's terrific offensive which swept the Germans out of Africa.

Then, together with the Queen Mary, this super-transport began in the spring of 1943 the tremendous job of carrying American divisions across the Atlantic to Britain for the invasion of Europe. On each eastbound voyage, she carried an average of 15,000 troops; a whole division at a time. On return trips she carried thousands of war prisoners. By the end of 1944, on trans-Atlantic "ferry" run alone, she had transported almost half a million troops.

To keep up this record required a miracle of organization unparalleled in the history of trooping. Over 30,000 meals were served each day; a round trip to England required the iceboxes and storerooms to hold over 500,000 pounds of foods. In all, more than 22 million meals were dished out to hungry troops. In case of enemy attack, the ship carried motor lifeboats for 3,000 and life rafts for 15,000.

Virtually the only respite brought to the Elizabeth with the end of the war was the lifting of the nightly blackout and the wartime zig-zaging. She continued the work of transporting home to Canada and the United States thousands of service personnel. All in all, she carried more than 811,000 Allied troops. Early in 1946, she brought to England many of the delegates to the first assembly of the United Nations. Now, her hull painted a shiny black, her superstructure a natty white and her funnels blazoned with the red and black colors of the Cunard White Star Line, she's a proud civilian once more.

37 Aliases And 6 Wives, Man Impersonated F.B.I.

NEW YORK (AP)—Alexander Arlinsky, described by federal authorities as a man with 37 aliases and six wives, drew a six-year prison term Thursday on his guilty plea to a charge of impersonating a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent in Boston in 1940.

The 41-year-old Lowell, Mass., resident was arrested in New York city last July 24.

Joseph J. Verdicchio, assistant U.S. attorney, said Arlinsky made a practice of preying on unsuspecting women, usually wealthy, to swindle them of their money.

A favorite trick, Verdicchio said, was to hold a vial, supposedly poison, in his hand while dining with a woman and threaten suicide if his proposal of matrimony was not accepted.

Prizes Awarded For Best Gardens, Lawns

Prizes for the finest lawns, flower gardens, and vegetable gardens were awarded by Mayor Percy George Wednesday evening to winners of the 1946 lawn and garden competition sponsored by Wartime Housing Ltd. at the James Bay Community Centre.

Mayor George praised the group of "community-conscious people who have helped to build and maintain this fine community centre, where young and old alike participate in community activities."

First prize in the lawn and flowers competition went to C. N. Dommett, 208 Oswego Street; second, S. Levy, 235 Niagara Street; third, C. Ray, 31 Ontario Street; and fourth G. E. Smith, 55 Dock Street.

In the vegetable garden contest E. A. Sharpe, 27 Pilot Street was winner; with C. Ray being second; and W. H. Blunt, 80 Oswego Street, third.

Keith Todd was presented with a saw donated by E. A. Sharpe, for being the best worker in the boys' woodworking class.

Reginald Easton, president of the James Bay Community Council was chairman. Other speakers were E. W. White, district horticulturist, Provincial Department of Agriculture; G. H. Davey, president of the Victoria Horticultural Society; E. A. Sharpe; Miss Margaret A. Hines, community counselor; and F. M. Groddy, local administrator of Wartime Housing Ltd.

Leaders Run In Minus Column

NEW YORK (AP) — A few stocks tacked on modest recoveries today but market leaders generally continued to operate in the losing ranks.

Dealings picked up at intervals although sluggishness was the rule from the start. Declines, on the whole, ranged from fractions to a point or so near the close. Extreme recessions were reduced here and there.

Minus signs predominated in the Canadian group at mid-day. Dome Mines was off ½ as was Hiram Walker. Distillers Seagrams eased ⅛. C.P.R. and McIntyre each was up ¼.

Dow-Jones averages closed today as follows:

30 indls.	200.69	off 1.80

Grain

WINNIPEG (CP) —Winnipeg rye prices showed a stronger trend today, and closed at 4⅛ to 4⅝ cents higher than yesterday. Reports of unfavorable harvesting weather, and snow in Alberta, brought buying and covering into the market.

One of the largest export sales in several months was announced. The United Kingdom took 1,600,000 bushels of wheat in the form of flour, and an additional 200,000 bushels were sold to other countries.

Heavy Turnover In Penny Issues

TORONTO (CP)—A generally soft tone marked trade today. All four index groups were down moderately at the close and trading volume was light apart from heavy turnover in two or three of the penny issues.

Pen-Rey touched 27 cents and held a gain of a cent or more. Colomac and Indian Lake were active and higher by a few cents.

Industrials moved in lighter volume than usual and at a margin of price declines for paper, Steel and miscellaneous issues.

Western oils showed narrow declines for Calgary and Edmonton, Calmont, Pacific Pete. and Roxana.

V.M.D.-Built Coaster Sailing For China

The first of the three China coasters built at Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd., and purchased by China will leave here early next week for Vancouver where 36 of the Chinese crew which brought the Princess Kathleen home from overseas will man her for the voyage to the Orient.

The ship is the Hi Han. The remaining two are expected to sail at weekly intervals. Hi Han will take on cargo at Vancouver.

Great Lakes Ship Calls At Nanaimo

The former Great Lakes ore and grain carrier Hailin is now coaling at Nanaimo where she has called en route to China, which has purchased the vessel.

The Hailin is 2,500 tons and was built in Windsor in 1912. She sailed on the Great Lakes until World War II, when she sailed with a number of other Great Lakes ships to carry cargoes on the Atlantic.

She was purchased by the Chinese at the end of the war and is carrying a cargo of trucks and fertilizer for use by Chinese farmers. Several elderly Chinese are returning to their homeland aboard the ship.

2 Ships Loading

Two ships, Tecumseh Park and Seaboard Star, are loading lumber at Ogden Point Docks for overseas.

Tecumseh Park is taking on 850,000 feet for Belfast, Ireland, and Seaboard Star is loading 1,000,000 feet for Australia.

The American steamship K. I. Luckenbach is due at Cowichan Bay Saturday to load 500,000 feet of lumber for Holland.

Coho Below Average

Coho salmon fishing on the west coast of Vancouver Island up to date has been extremely poor and production has dropped 1,000,000 pounds compared to the average production of other years, George Greenwell, assistant manager of the Kyuquot Trollers' Co-operative Association, reported today.

Packer Brings Salmon

The packer Co-operator I left Victoria for Seattle Thursday evening after landing part of her 100,000-pound cargo of salmon here, George Greenwell, assistant manager, Kyuquot Trollers' Co-operative Association, said today.

Allies Inactive, So Took Puppet Throne Pu-yi Testifies

TOKYO (AP) — Henry Pu-Yi today defended his acceptance of the puppet throne of Manchuria by attacking Allied inaction in the face of Japanese conquest.

Pu-Yi, a nervous little man in a blue serge suit, was testifying at the trial of Japan's war leaders—some of whom gave him orders when he was the puppet emperor.

Recounting the 14-year-old intrigue that led him to the false throne of his forefathers' country, the last of the Manchu emperors interjected:

"At that time (1932 and 1933) the democratic nations were not trying to resist Japanese militarists. I alone as an individual would hardly be able to resist them."

Animatedly, in contrast to his earlier calm, he said he accepted the Manchurian throne through fear for his life.

At the end of the day's session Pu-Yi left the courtroom as he had arrived—in Russian custody.

Military police stood beside the witness box as Pu-Yi testified in a low, hoarse voice. The courtroom was jammed.

Former Premier Hideki Tojo and the 26 other defendants showed interest in Pu-Yi's testimony. Tojo took notes.

The former puppet avoided the eyes of the defendants. Twisting nervously, he related that he was born in 1906 and was enthroned at the age of three, upon the death of his aunt, the last empress dowager of China.

The corruption of Chinese officials was the reason for his overthrow by revolution three years later, Pu-Yi said. Pu-Yi said he first lived at the Japanese embassy at Peiping after his flight from the palace because the British minister said the British embassy was "too small." At 27 he was taken to Manchuria to become regent and then puppet emperor of that Japanese-dominated area.

Prolong Sailings Of Ferry Kalakala

Anticipating continuation of the present heavy tourist travel, the Black Ball Ferry Line will continue operating the ferry Kalakala on the Seattle-Victoria-Port Angeles run to Sept. 15, instead of taking her off the run Sept. 3, as originally scheduled, George Paulin, Victoria agent for the company, announced today.

Community Chest Objective To Be Highest Yet Set

Victorians will be asked to contribute more generously than ever before this year to the Community Chest campaign, which will be Oct. 1 to 8, Dennis Hagar, campaign chairman, announced following a meeting of the Community Chest organization Thursday evening.

All full-time workers in the 23 chest agencies are being given an upward revision of their salaries this year, Mr. Hagar said, pointing out that this is necessitated by the rising cost of living.

A similar situation exists in all welfare agencies in Canada and the United States, he said, and this is the first salary raise that has been given social workers since before the outbreak of war.

"As a result of this," he stated, "we must face the fact that our over-all objective for the Community Chest campaign in October will be higher than ever before."

Slogan for the campaign, which is being used in all chest campaigns across the country is "everybody benefits, everybody gives."

Work on the budget of the 23 agencies will be started next week.

Refugees Convert Wealth To Stamps To Retain Fortunes

Black marketers seeking to conceal their profits, and refugees fleeing countries with the most easily hidden negotiable paper they could secure have combined to lift stamp collecting to the plane of high finance, Ross O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco, internationally famous philatelist, said in Victoria today.

Stamps, in the last few years, have become international currency, he said. With their values recognized and catalogued, he said, they are more negotiable than the currency of many countries and can be converted into cash in any part of the world.

Thousands of Jewish refugees, who appeared destitute as they fled from Nazi Germany, were able to establish themselves as wealthy citizens in the countries in which they found sanctuary. They did it by converting their assets into stamps. If they had fled with money, diamonds or jewels they would probably have been robbed by guards or would have had to pay duty as they entered another country. The stamps could be carried without drawing attention and, even if they were discovered, were not likely to arouse cupidity of anyone in a position to seize them. The refugees were able to cross borders with the stamps in their possession and then convert them into cash in a new country.

Black marketers in the United States have also helped the stamp boom considerably, Mr. O'Shaughnessy said. They purchase valuable stamps, he said, to conceal profits and also to evade taxes. If they put their illicit earnings in bonds or other securities it would be easier to trace their activities than when the earnings are spent on stamps. The stamps are just as easy to use as money in any part of the world as U.S. dollar bills.

AIR MAIL STAMP OF 1878

Mr O'Shaughnessy is the possessor of one of the two known cover copies of the first air mail stamp known as the Buffalo Balloon Stamp. It is an unofficial stamp issued in 1878 when a professor in Buffalo conceived the idea of carrying mail by air. He found little support from anyone except the publishers of the Nashville Courier, who helped sponsor the construction of a balloon and printed the unofficial stamp, by the side of which had to be placed a regulation U.S. stamp. It was only 10 or 12 years ago these facts were brought to light again and Mr. O'Shaughnessy recalled he had one in his collection. Previously he had placed no particular value on it. In fact, at one time he had rolled the envelope with the stamp on it into a ball for his pet kitten to play with. Its value now is in the thousands.

Mr. O'Shaughnessy, who is accompanied by his sister, Miss K. O'Shaughnessy, is a member of the American Philatelic Society and an honorary member of the Irish Philatelic Society. He will be guest of other well-known philatelists of this section of the Pacific Coast before returning to San Francisco.

Unaware Ford Parts Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Reconstruction Minister Howe said today that as his department did not control prices he was not aware of any increase in the price of Ford repair parts in western Canada.

He was replying to Solon Low, Social Cred
